UFOs of 9-11
2015-10-31

It's a strange subject, tricky to touch. Here is one opinion:

There's no such thing as UFOs!

UFO is a common abbreviation for: unidentified flying object. It means just that, not more, not less.

When you see a UFO, especially not in reality but on a photo or in a video, you will be very careful to draw any conclusions. This file from the internet wants to help you with that.

Professor Jones Teaches Tucker About 911

By Jon Carlson
carlson.jon@att.net
11-19-5

On Monday, 11/14/05, Tucker Carlson welcomed Brigham Young University Professor Steven Jones to the 'Situation.' Steven Jones, a professor of physics, believes that the hijackers may not have brought down the towers by themselves (Actually he said Moslems didn't do the WTC demolitions).

<http://www.msnbc.msn.com/id/10053445/>

Tucker explained: (For)The two towers (collapse). The explanation has been that the fire inside was so intense that it weakened the structural steel and that each floor collapsed down upon the next in a pancake fashion, and they imploded in on themselves. That's essentially, I think, what people think.

This photo shows the 'reported' South Tower 'Towering Inferno' on the left shortly after the impact:

Prof Jones: (One hypothesis, or possibility, is FIRE caused the collapse while) The other (hypothesis) is that EXPLOSIVES in the buildings may have caused the collapse. And so, then we analyze and see which fits the data better, and I've done that in my 25-page paper.

Paper LINK: <http://www.physics.byu.edu/research/energy/htm7.html>

Prof Jones wanted a video of the WTC7 collapse shown that he had sent Tucker but THAT VIDEO was too hot to handle. 'Commander-in-chief' Bush approval ratings, now sinking through the 30's would drop off the scale! Another Jones, Alex, interviewed attorney Stanley Hilton about court documents that Bush ordered 9/11:

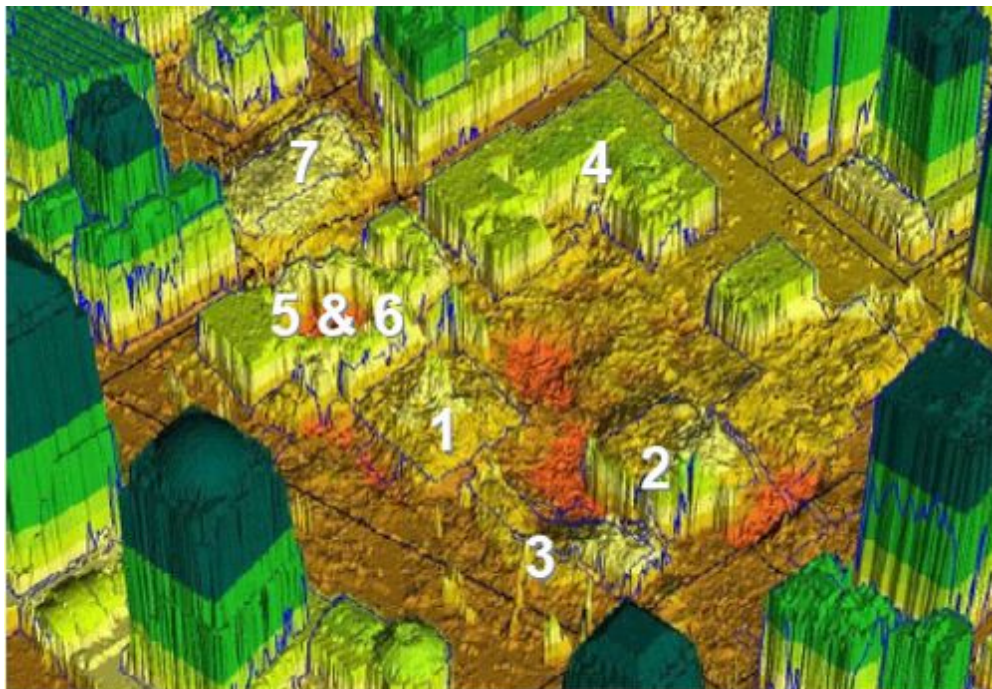

http://www.prisonplanet.com/jones_report_031403_hilton.html

Tucker thought a fuel tank was the cause. However, Prof Jones pointed out as seen in this photo the KINK characteristic of a building demolition:

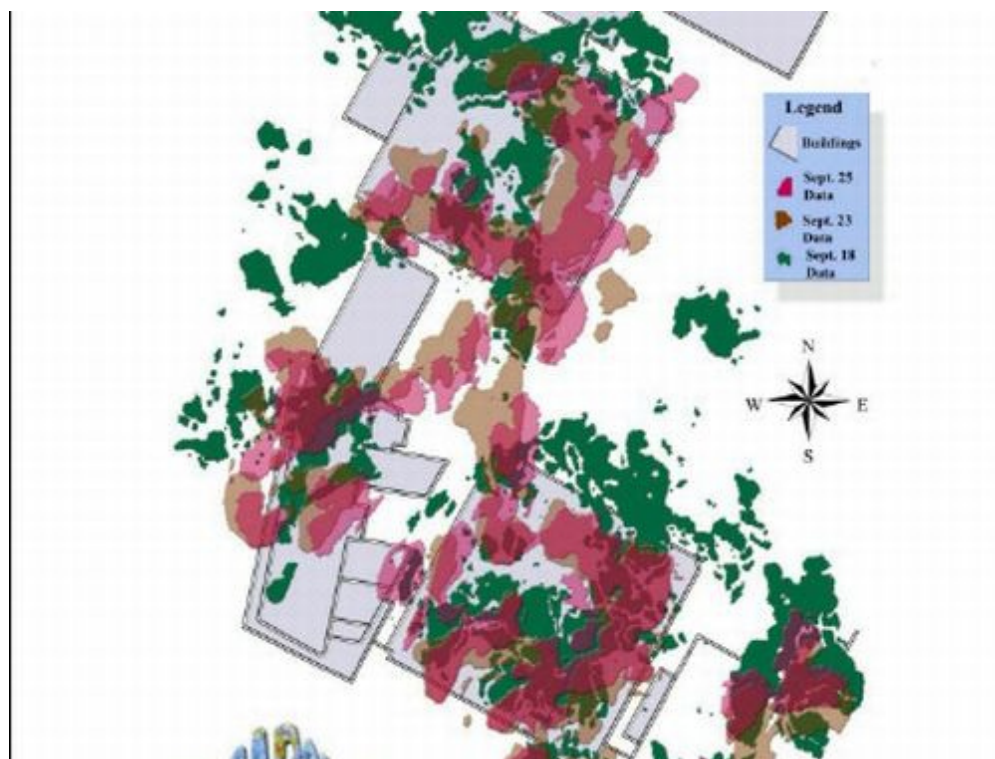

Prof Jones concludes: ...all scientists now reasonably agree that the fires were not sufficiently hot to melt the steel, so what is this (Ground Zero) molten metal? It's direct evidence for the use of high-temperature explosives, such as thermite, which produces molten iron as an end product.

These LIDAR Images show the hot spots in the DEBRIS PILES, not the ground itself As WTC7 was a conventional demolition job NO hot spots surround it. WTC1 (North Tower) and WTC2 (South Tower) are a considerable distance (300 feet) away from WTC7 implying no connection to the WTC1 and WTC2 demolitions and thus the WTC7 demolition was a separate event.

Above: LIDAR image of WTC after the attack, with superimposed planimetrics (outlines) of where the buildings once stood. Numbers indicate locations.

FROM: <http://web.gc.cuny.edu/ees/october2001.pdf>

OBVIOUSLY Tucker failed the Professor's tests showing poor preparation but so would many Americans. Tucker concludes: Professor, we are going to have to leave it to our viewers who are interested enough to follow up to do just that. We appreciate you coming on, even if I don't understand your theories, we appreciate you trying to explain them. Thanks.

Just so Tucker is better prepared for the next Prof Jones interview, video captures from the NBC 9/11 archive should be studied. With 17 minutes between crashes NBC must have had Intel that 9/11 was coming down to position a news helicopter in the WTC airspace in that 17 minute window. This photo shows the South Tower crash:

This photo shows the military helicopter that remote controlled the Boeing 737 into the South Tower. It could only wait 59 minutes as fuel was running low before setting off the cutter charges that demolished the South Tower:

In this photo the hollowed out area left of the TV mast may have been caused by the propwash of the military helicopter:

For those who would like a close-up view of the Bell212 military helicopter::

This photo shows the military helicopter finishing its mission and heading for the aircraft carrier, USS George Washington anchored off Long Island:

Tucker is an avid fisherman. For those moments when the fish aren't biting he is assigned for homework the RENSE article, German Intel Agent von Bulow Solves 9/11:

The Hidden Advanced Aircraft of Bush's Black Operation 911

The most modern technology was visible on 911, unknowingly sponsored by the tax dollars of the American population and worst, a black program even unknown by Congress:

White Jet Analysis

Update (Nov. 12, 2006): Some of the videos presented here added to

YouTube

You need to check by YOURSELF all the original footage, every Documentary and News Sources available to you. Some examples here.

Prime examples of the Cloaked Aircraft Used For The Black Operation 911:

Cloaked aircraft # 1 (two white vehicles in line formation) from CameraPlanet (also downloadable in MPEG1), 17 seconds after the crashing part of this video taken by Jennifer Spell, she is [seen here at the bottom from Brooklyn, featured in MSNBC and in the movie 7 Days in September]; # 2, from CameraPlanet, in seconds 06:17 to 06:19 we can see a different pair of white vehicles, six seconds after the tower was hit (video taken by Peter DiPilato, also visible in 7 Days in September and downloadable here as MPEG1); # 3, the same ones presented in number two captured by Mike Toole, from the FeedRoom, and presented in the HBO film In Memoriam (Here, link to the MPEG video clip taken from the full documentary, from time 14:45-49. To see all the MPEGs presented here, download them and play them in Windows Media Player).

This Blog is mostly based on the aspect of advanced and cloaked aircraft (stealth tech.) before, during and after the attacks to the WTC. To study another aspect, the advanced and secretive technology to pulverize steel and more than 60% of the twin towers, go to:

The Star Wars Beam Weapon and other 9/11 Issues
 where the authors wrote:

"Due to the seriousness of this issue, we felt it was important to present the analysis and data as soon as possible. (Following the murder of my student, Michael Zebuhr, an extraordinary human being, I received an email stating, "we've done it before and we will do it again if need be.") Therefore, expect this website to be added to and updated over the next few days. Michael told me, "Whatever happens, don't ever stop pursuing this. It's too important." Michael, this is for you. "

Figure 38(a). A video clip of steel turning to steel dust also see Figure 38(b). Another video of steel turning to steel dust, although CNN's Aaron Brown calls it smoke (in [AVI and in MPG.)):

Sequence of three cloaked aircraft taken by Timothy Hayes, Patrick Walsh (NYPD Pilots,) Jordan, etc., from the documentary presented by History Channel, from A&E's "The Anatomy of September 11th." (a revealing DVD that apparently has been censored in the U.S.A.) More sequences by the same pilots (Walsh & Hayes) were presented in an Israeli TV station (however, not in the U.S.A.) The person that posted it online wrote: "911 - wtc - images from helicopter - new release.asf - An Israeli television news show with helicopter footage of the South Tower collapse, from Kazaa. The announcer speaks Hebrew, but we hear this in English: "It's gone, the whole tower... it's gone! Holy crap! They knocked the whole friggin' thing down! They did it... it's down, the fuckin' tower's down" [The same words can be heard in the censored DVD documentary by History Channel mentioned before and in BBC - Horizon "The Fall of the World Trade Center." However, the Israeli version and BBC lack of the three cloaked aircraft presented in History Channel.] Next, links to 2 MPEG videos taken from the History Channel documentary: the three cloaked vehicles attempt to camouflage (check very carefully that while the light refraction moves through the curved surface of the helicopter window, those three vehicles continue there moving slightly closer and farther from each other. Those vehicles attempted to master their hiding deceptions but failed. The astonished voices of Hayes and Walsh can be heard while they look at the WTC south tower falling by the perverse controlled demolition of black operation 911.

Here we see a falling man while the three cloaked aircraft (presented above) camouflage themselves as "clouds", an additional cloaked device can be seen in the second line. On 911, the most advanced technology of the U.S. was busy in the Black Operation directed by Bush, Cheney, Rumsfeld and collaborators. Busy in the killing of American lives, not saving them, in the pursuit of their own particular political agenda (their perverse PNAC). Next, MPEG videos merged within the links of this paragraph: These striking images can be seen in the CBS documentary presented by Dan Rather What We Saw and in the HBO special In Memoriam presented by Rudolph Giuliani (the last frame was taken from that HBO special.) A third source presenting the same footage, from Spain, Canal 5. The most recent airing of this clip was in Court TV, documentary "On Native Soil." Next, the same three stealth vehicles filmed instants before the previous clip, presented by MSNBC and filmed by Luis Alonso; film stored at CameraPlanet. The MPEG clip from that frames (here presented with their close up) can be seen here:

Next we can see another aerial device departing at the very instant in which the tower was starting to fall (lower right):

This one was presented in the documentary Why The Towers Fell, by NOVA, PBS (close-up at the right side, the MPEG video can be seen here). Another view of this advanced aerial vehicle can be seen next:

Gary Pollard took this amazing footage featured in the CameraPlanet documentary 7 days in September. Here its MPEG. Next, a third person captured the same event just before the fall of the tower (again, at the end the close-ups of the last frame):

Here is the MPEG of the last sequence, compiled by Goldfish Pictures and posted on Google Video, (here the second part.)

Next, the same advanced aerial devices that were escaping the tower just seconds before the fall, captured from below (with close-ups):

The color sequence taken from PBS - American Experience, the black and white sequence, from the same filmmaker (Evan Fairbanks) can be downloaded in MPEG here, as the rest of the MPEG film presented here. Here, how a fragment of it was presented at ABC - ESPN (when Peter Jennings was still alive.)

Here, another device used on 911 by Cofer Black, Cambone and their leaders Cheney, Rumsfeld and Bush, etc... that advanced and harmful device can be seen in the first frame at the left side, in the next frame approaching the just damaged North Tower of the WTC (here its MPEG, from the film of the Naudet brothers as presented in PBS, The American Experience, "New York Center of the World, Episode 8," the only place in which the end has not been edited out or altered by the Naudets and by Hanlon et al (all those nasty secretive CIA "assets"), where you can see, at the end, a morphing holo-birdet), then the same dangerous device, moving forward could be seen in the 2006 Discovery Channel novel or enactment: "Inside the Twin Towers", which included original footage. Then, in the amateur film released on 2006 by Bob and Bri it was possible to see again the same destructive and advanced technological device, in a burning red color, that for lack of a better terminology and knowledge of the "secret" perversions of Bush et al, we will call the thermator, a loaded device used to promote the fire, the smoke and the final collapse.

Multiple advanced aerial devices were present controlling and "shepherding" the fall of the WTC towers, as well as the initial damage imposed on them. Similar vehicles were seen on the frauds performed by Bush, Rumsfeld, Cheney and their felon partners at the Pentagon and at Shanksville.

More examples of such Black Operation 911, a criminal deception authorized by Bush and his crooked family (Jeb, Herbert, Marvin, the PWACs: Cheney, Rumsfeld, Rove, Bolton, Wolfowitz, etc...):

In this collage of the "Park Foreman" sequence, as presented multiple times on CNN, we can see first a cloaked device hiding near the bottom of the smoke; then we see the holo-plane fading and slightly changing shape (with another cloaked device behind it, as seen in shot # 6). After the impact, shots 8 & 9 show another cloaked aircraft at the right side, then an additional one appears through the smoke, at the top of the buildings and finally, we can see the cloaked aircraft that was there from the beginning near the bottom of the smoke, a sequence of it was also seen while Tommy Thompson was speaking, plus a pair of birdets crossing from left to right in line with the smoke presented in the last shot (the central part of this footage can be seen also in the PBS' American Experience documentary on New York, Center of the World, Episode 8, in the National Geographic's documentary Zero Hour from "Inside 9/11", in the HBO documentary In Memoriam...) Examples of "the Park Foreman for The Times" MPEG video can be seen at CNN: its longer start, its events in the middle, and its longer end. The middle events were also presented at the PBS - American Experience, and at the End Game from National Geographic's Inside 9/11, while the starting events were also presented in the CNN's documentary America Remembers:

This first part of the Foreman video can be seen in the CNN documentary America Remembers (intermittent within minutes 7:22 to 8:23). Above, close-ups and their corresponding frame have been set side by side to more easily identify the cloaked devices surrounding the "plane". MPEGs of this CNN start \(one\), and example two. The next detailed analysis demonstrates the fake nature of the "Park Foreman" holographic plane, notice in the previous linked picture, that in frames 2 and 3 the port wing appears to be in front of the foreground scaffold, while in frames 4 and 5 the port wing appears to be behind the foreground scaffold. Even in the earlier still frames aired from the Foreman video initially presented at CNN by Aaron Brown you can see the white advanced camouflaged aircraft and the missile nose protruding out of the tower.

Another camera was able to capture the white jet (the same one presented in the penultimate sequence from here (visible there in frames 8 and 9), in this second video the white plane appears for very few frames, hence the importance to do a careful analysis of each frame showing the 911 skies. Here, its MPEG.

In the same CNN documentary America Remembers after they present the fall of the WTC7, we can clearly see at least three cloaked vehicles (from 35:47 to 49), one of them is presented above, with close-ups and the actual full frame from which they were taken. Next the MPEG video of this sequence, as many of the cloaked vehicles recorded, the video of these three ones can be seen only for three seconds. We deeply recommend to use a slow-motion software and enlarging software like the free ones suggested by thewebfairy. Stealth vehicles also captured by a photographer.

The lame government of George W. Bush, secluded to his ranch until 911, looked to have a popular boost with 911. He was meeting his PNAC brother Jeb Bush at Florida since the day before that their black program of 911 was executed. Marvin Bush, his other brother was involved with the "security" of the WTC, United Airlines, and Dulles International Airport through the company Securacom, now Stratesec...

In this additional view, presented also by CNN in multiple occasions, we can see how the missile covered by the holo-plane hits the tower, and immediately after that, a cloaked vehicle can be seen departing from the scene, at the top right (the bottom part of this footage can also be seen in the PBS' American Experience documentary on New York, Center of the World, Episode 8). Here, their MPEG videos: from CNN - Breaking News, from PBS - American Experience.

In this sequence we can see a cloaked aircraft at the top left, near the logo as appeared at the beginning of the 2005 documentary End Game, one of the four episodes of Inside 9/11 by National Geographic. To see the MPEG 1 video, click here.

Here the Naudets filmed a near-invisible vehicle with a similar complexion than the one before, this time departing from the tower in a similar way than the one above captured by NOVA. Here its MPEG.

In this sequence from the same End Game we can see a stealth vehicle de-cloaking itself and attacking the tower by planting explosives on a previously marked section (thermate et al) on the surface of the WTC towers and then re-cloaking itself. To see the MPEG 1 video, click here. In that video, you can see that before this moment, another cloaked device is hovering at the bottom of the smoke between the two towers.

This is a collage of different cloaked aircraft that appears in the episode Zero Hour from National Geographic's Inside 9/11 (the last two lines with zoom-in side-by-side to compare, in the last line two cloaked objects were flying). MPEGs of the first one, the second and the third example.

This is the second part of the sequence of the white jet that appeared just seconds before the impact of the second WTC tower (the south tower) as presented in Zero Hour by National Geographic (with zoom-in side-by-side for comparison purposes). To see this clip in MPEG 1, click here. The first part of this jet in Macromedia Flash and to be downloaded in MOV for RealPlayer (RealOne) can be found in thewebfairly, also in terrorize.dk you can download it in WMV format. Also in that page you can see the testimony of this third jet by Will Jimeno, a NY Port Authority official immortalized by Oliver Stone's movie World Trade Center. This is precisely the third jet presented in the PDF paper The Flying Elephant: Evidence for Involvement of a Third Jet in the WTC Attacks paper almost costing the life of the original writer who was threatened, and his family by a covert "intelligence" operative (the evil assets or operatives of Mr. criminal Bush and his collaborators). Both the previous and the next footage were taken by Brian Gately, Systems Manager, from a 6th floor in Crown Heights.

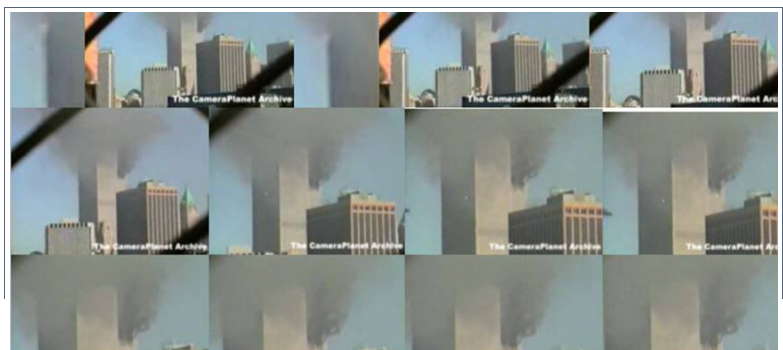

In this sequence of the second hit captured by the same camera of the previous one, you can see a white orb flying low, with detail (multiple cameras filmed similar vehicles flying very low on 911). Here is the MPEG of this cloaked orb moving just after the second hit.

The smaller orb can be seen causing the ejection of smoke from the tower, then changing form and color. The helicopter can also be seen camouflaging itself once out of the smoke. Birdets were seen crossing from right to left and another advanced aircraft was seen flying a higher altitude in the last line. Then the helicopter went back (flying in circles around the WTC.) Here is the MPEG showing the cloak-able helicopter, the orb, the birdets and another aircraft.

The sequence presented here, again from the same video presented at the beginning, shows the white orb visible at the moment of the "second hit" of the World Trade Center. The fact that its a third dimensional aerial object can be confirmed by its clear entrance to the two buildings (also shown in detail in lines one and four), the fact that this orb continued moving, even while the crash occurred and after that, indicates that the "plane" was an holographic projection hiding or covering a loaded missile.

This collage seems to confirm that flashing orbs were surrounding the whole WTC until Bush's Black Operation 911 was fully completed. Two of them can be seen here, moving from top to bottom, their exit point can be seen in the last line; from the recently released personal video "September 11, 2001: What We Saw" by Bob and Bri, filmed from Tribeca Pointe, NY. Here is the MPEG clip of those flashing orbs. The timing at the bottom, from the full Google Video. Some of the flashes presented at CNN can be seen here (video extension MPG).

This one shows the presence of at least two very advanced aircraft flying at each side of the WTC moments after their second aerial attack. One is dark at the bottom of the smoke while the other is "a morphing white." Here you can see the MPEG. To see many other excerpts of the film of Bob and Bri, click here. Specially notable are the excerpts of multiple stealth very advanced vehicles flying while the last of the twin towers is falling. Those flashing orbs were also visible when the falling started. It seems that some of those advanced CIA-Pentagon vehicles were responsible for the "injecting" of the thermate to bring down the towers at the full speed of the laws of gravity. Just two of such examples from the film of Bob & Bri: 1 and 2. An additional example of orbs "pasted" to the towers was edited by Golden Fish P. (another Naudet Company.)

This long sequence of a morphing stealth captured and aired by CNN after the fall of the two WTC towers, as the previous ones and as the ones presented elsewhere \(1 and 2\) etc... are showing the closest view of a very advanced and secretive aircraft used by Bush to kill his own fellow Americans on 9/11, in the pursuit of his crooked agenda and Cheney's, Rumsfeld's and the rest of the PNAC members' perverse philosophies of domination and of war. This video MPG (MPEG) can be downloaded here.

n additional video that also captured many of those camouflaged stealth vehicles ("leftovers" of the yahoovie project) was presented by MSNBC Investigates, "24 Hours at Ground Zero." Here is the segment of Luis Alonso (in MPEG, who donated his film to CameraPlanet). From it, the fragment showing the stealth aircraft camouflaged can be seen here. Then, examples taken from them can be seen next: one, two, three, four, five, etc...

Etc... etc...

Rumsfeld and Cheney were as well obsessed with a new Pearl Harbor, as can be read in their crooked PNAC, and for Rumsfeld in the book of "Bush At War" by Woodward, where we read: "In his first eight months back in the Pentagon, Rumsfeld struck two major themes. First, the military was hidebound and outdated... Rumsfeld's second theme was surprise. He routinely handed out or recommended a book called Pearl Harbor: Warning and Decision by Roberta Wohlstetter. Rumsfeld particularly recommended the foreword, written by Thomas Schelling... Rumsfeld's transformation plans met with something just short of organized resistance bordering on insubordination among a significant part of the senior uniformed officers. One four-star officer who worked with him said Rumsfeld was "an egomaniac cleverly disguised... a hip shooter who gives the impression he is not." Another said if anyone disagreed with Rumsfeld it was risky because the result might be an "ass chewing from him...." In the same book, there are the statements of darker individuals involved with the Black Operation 911 and with related issues, like in figure 23, of CIA's Cofer Black, where we read:

Cofer Black, the head of the CIA's Counterterrorism Center, told the president in a briefing on proposed covert operations, "You've got to understand, people are going to die." [The text in the book expands his statement as follows: "And the worst part about it, Mr. President, Americans are going to die — my colleagues and my friends." Somebody declared: "There is a situation where the head of the CIA's counterterrorism center, Cofer Black, feels the need to remind the President about some desired covert operations: "You've got to understand, people are going to die." It is left unsaid whether the comment came from something flippant said at the time, or whether this admonition was necessary in the previous administration." Now Joseph Cofer Black is "ambassador at large (2002-present)."]

Next, the other darker character that Woodward introduced:

"Cambone!" was a familiar refrain when Rumsfeld wanted information or action. A 6-foot-3 defense intellectual who had worked on the space and missile defense commissions that Rumsfeld had headed, Steve Cambone was the dark, nonsunny, nonoptimistic side of Rumsfeld who had forebodings about something bad happening. He was civilian special assistant to the secretary, and he largely defined the relationships between Rumsfeld and the rest of the Pentagon.

Cambone was the means by which, at least initially, Rumsfeld had extended his grasp around the throats of the military brass. [Somebody wrote: "All the so-called "black" programs had one element in common: the Secretary of Defense, or his deputy, had to conclude that the normal military classification restraints did not provide enough security..." Rumsfeld put his Under-Secretary for intelligence, a newly created Bush administration position [of course!], in charge of the super-secret black "SAP" program. This individual, Stephen Cambone, testified along with Rumsfeld and Generals Lance Smith and Richard Myers before the Senate Armed Services Committee. Hersh quotes a senior CIA official that colorfully pointed out how Rumsfeld and Cambone lied during that Senate appearance."]

George Herbert Walker Bush is another "secrecy hoot" involved in helping the pale and low popularity of his ungifted and neuron-burnt son George Jr., as we can remember Herbert's involvement in the discrediting of the "Fortunate Son" book by the use of his lawyers, as well as his influence over the secretive organizations (he was the CIA head) to strongly support his son, and viceversa, even with the support of Bush's domestic spying. Here we let the images to speak by themselves., while today 911 - 06, we honor the families of the 911 victims... For example, we honor Wilton Sekzer, a former New York City cop, father of Jason Maxwell Sekzer, who died on the WTC on 911. Wilton declared to Eugene Jarecki, from Parade (September 10, 2006, pages 5-6):

Something Wrong With the System

... I was watching TV when President Bush came on and said he didn't know why people connected Iraq to 9/11. He said: "We've had no evidence that Saddam Hussein was involved with the September 11th [attacks]." I said, "What did he just say?" I mean, I almost jumped out of my chair. I said, "What is he talking about?" What the hell did we go in there for? If Saddam didn't have anything to do with 9/11, then why did we go in there? I'm from the old school... It's a terrible thing if someone like me can't trust his President. I began to wonder what the hell's with the whole system. There's something wrong with the entire system. I feel like the government exploited my feelings of patriotism. But I was so insane with wanting to get even, I was willing to believe anything [he requested that the statement "In Loving Memory of Jason Sekzer", his deceased son, be put in one of the bombs that fell over Iraq]. Undoubtedly, there are people who may read my statements and think that I'm no good. [that] I'm a SOB. [that] I'm a warmonger. I should never have put my son's name on the bomb. Am I sorry? No, because I acted under the conditions at that time. Was it wrong? Yeah, it was wrong. But I didn't know that. It's not easy to be calm when you lose your child. You want revenge. When people heard my story, I got a lot of e-mails. One guy wrote: "What about the other fathers whose sons were killed by that bomb?" You know what? He has a right to say that, because we were lied to." [And we are still lied to... see also Woodward: Bush is misleading public on Iraq] Featuring Wilton Sekzer, here is "The American Documentary Grand Jury Prize" winner, from 2005 "Why We Fight", by Eugene Jarecki (presented at BBC & CBC). Those are not wars for "freedom," as advertised by them, but wars to keep on power "a system whose survival depends on a state of constant war," an elite personified by the Bush family and the likes of Cheney, Rumsfeld, Wolfowitz, Rove, Cambone, etc... plus the rest of criminals that masterminded the PNAC, the CFR, the private deception wrongfully called the Federal Reserve, plus the secret organizations. A corporate system willing to remain "immune from the checks and balances of a peace-seeking electorate."

I forgot to mention, there are three blogs at my profile page. The one with coverage of the stealth presence at 9/11 is called Big Medicine. I have been getting hits from some crazy outfits, like Halliburton, Boeing, various air force bases, not to mention several Swiss financial institutions so I figure I am on the right track.

Eric,

I really liked your studies, here I link to your currently related ones: What Is It, Adaptive Camouflage, Boeings Phantom Works Unmanned Aerial, Stealth Satellite. The morons of secrecy have tried to ignore and/or dismiss or even to discredit those advanced vehicles seen on 9/11 that you are presenting. However, I have seen them, and anybody can verify them, in the international news aired worldwide.

Many of the same people you refer have visited this one, and other more nasty parasites of secrecy worthless to be mentioned here. [You can even check the Google "Page Rank" for these simple Comments.]

Here, I wish to add things that are related to the cloaking technology (which for 9/11 has been "mocked" by the very same morons of secrecy that wish it still covert forever) led by Bush the liar: Briefly featured today at Yahoo News (then quickly removed from the featured stories): Cloaking used special materials to deflect radar or light or other waves around an object, like water flowing around a smooth rock in a stream... The cloaking of a cylinder from microwaves... The cloak is made of metamaterials, which are mixtures of metal and circuit board materials such as ceramic, Teflon or fiber composite... [Alternate link, as Yahoo always removes its own news links.]

Then ...invisibility cloak that works in the microwave region of the electromagnetic spectrum... works by steering microwave light around an object, making it appear to an observer as if it were not there at all... "metamaterials"... can have exotic electromagnetic properties unseen in nature...

Plan for cloaking device unveiled... metamaterials can be designed to induce a desired change in the direction of electromagnetic waves, such as light. This is done by tinkering with the nano-scale structure of the metamaterial, not by altering its chemistry. John Pendry's team suggest that by enveloping an object in a metamaterial cloak, light waves can be made to flow around the object in the same way that water would do so... The work provides a mathematical "recipe" for bending light waves in such a way as to achieve a desired cloaking effect... Professor Ulf Leonhardt, author of another cloaking paper in Science, described the effect for light as a "mirage". "What you're trying to do is guide light around an object, but the art is to bend it such that it leaves the object in precisely the same way that it initially hits it. You have the illusion that there is nothing there," he told the BBC's Science in Action programme. The work could have uses in military stealth technology... Professor Pendry's research has been supported by the US Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (Darpa). Several other scientific teams have proposed ideas for cloaking devices. One theoretical paper proposed using a material known as a superlens to cancel out light being scattered from an object.

Military Aircraft Inspection Benefits of Carbon Nano Tube Construction. By Lance Winslow. January 12, 2006... special invisible aircraft bodies. We have the most prepared military in the world and these carbon nano tubes with their transparent properties make it that much

We need to remember that secretive agencies military use is ahead of public awareness. They used cloaked technology to kill Americans on 9/11 beyond the public knowledge and awareness. Shame on Bush, Cheney, Rumsfeld, Rove... and to their owners, the military-industrial complex denounced by Eisenhower, etc.!!!

Then another cloaking technology:

Invisible drones... "Persistence of vision" turns the fast-moving rotors of any helicopter into a near-transparent blur, while the slow-moving body looks solid. So why not make the entire aircraft spin as it flies, turning it into a single faint blur in the sky?... Phantom Sentinel aircraft... Y-shaped... The whole thing moves so fast that persistence of vision turns it into a single blur... Making the plane sky blue, or largely transparent...

Then, more cloaking devices:

retro-reflectum? Also referred to as retro-reflective material... the latest of Professor Tachi's patents, US6341869. A projector is disposed at a position that is optically conjugated to a position of eyes of an observer. The projector projects an image to a screen that has retroreflection function so as to provide information of virtual space to the observer. If a real object such as a tactile sense provision device that is to be shielded by the virtual space exists, a part or the whole of the real object is optically hidden from the projection of the projector by a shielding member having retroreflection function, for example, by placing a shielding screen on which a retroreflection material is coated, or by coating the retroreflection material...

Visions of invisible aircraft - Schiff base salts may make objects invisible to radar. Science News, August 29, 1987. Research on the chemistry of vision has led to the identification of a set of compounds that absorb electromagnetic waves at radio frequencies. These compounds, called Schiff base salts, when applied to the surface of a military aircraft, may significantly lower the aircraft's tendency to reflect radar signals. A coating of this type would make any object practically invisible to radar. Chemist Robert R. Birge of Carnegie-Mellon University in Pittsburgh and his colleagues made the discovery accidentally while studying a group of compounds that mimic some of the properties of rhodopsin.

That was the challenge facing the designers of the B-2 "Stealth" bomber who took an aircraft with a wing span larger than half a football field and reduced its radar "signature" to the size of a bird.

UK and US build new stealth tank [February 1, 1999] Business: The Company File. It will use similar technology to the stealth bomber to make it invisible to radar and other detection systems while it carries out reconnaissance in hostile territory. Stealth technology will make the tank almost invisible to enemy forces, by absorbing rather than reflecting radar beams.

Scientists create device to see invisible aircraft: Deccan Herald. New Delhi: Uniquely coating two glass slides with some chemicals, Indian scientists have come up with a memory storage device, which is capable of seeing "invisible" aircraft used in warfare and can be used in the heart of future target tracking devices. After four years of diligent research, a team at National Physical Laboratory (NPL), here under the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) have been able to develop the memory storage device which is superior to existing storage devices as it can store images up to one year. The NPL team got patents on the novel system in US, Japan, Germany UK and South Korea. Using the NPL device, Instrumentation Research and Development Establishment (IRDE) a Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) laboratory at Dehradun, is working to create an improved target-tracking equipment since the indigenous system is capable of seeing the invisible. Many nations today use aircraft coated with a radar absorbing paint that make such planes invisible to the radar. Already we have reduced aircraft observability remarkably, with corresponding increases in our ability to achieve tactical surprise... it is very important that we continue to "quieten" aircraft, as we have submarines. Two technical problems worth thinking about in this regard are how to do pilotless air refueling... and how to develop more energetic conventional munitions so we can reduce the size of combat payloads. [Third] We must find ways to reduce the density of the target array we present to the opposition. [Before, he declared:] ...we must think more boldly. First, space.... German Taube aircraft were able to detect the advancing Russian army during the Battle of Tannenberg (1914). [Wikipedia]

Stealth Wasn't Extraterrestrial Present. 28.01.2003, Translated by Maria Gousseva. June 25, 1947, it was businessman Kenneth Arnold who saw the UFO. But now we know that the objects that he saw were in fact jet airplanes F-84 that were secret at that period. An experimental American plane crashed in October 1987 in the desert Nevada, 160 kilometers to the north-west of Las Vegas. As American news agencies reported just few facts concerning the crash, it was clear that it was a pursuit plane constructed with the help of the progressive Stealth technology. And the crash was not the only one. Earlier, in July 1986 a similar plane crashed in California, above a national park famous for its sequoias. The region was immediately cordoned off and the air space was banned for flights. Two years before the accident, General Bond, US second-in-command for new air force weapons, crashed in a F-19 plane. The plane got out of the general's control as the machine wasn't stable enough. The plane was designed in accordance with the Stealth technology. Attempts to build an invisible plane were made in different countries already long ago. However, before radio locators appeared, those were attempts to build a plane that would be invisible over the optical range only. It is highly likely that such experiments were a success in Russia. For instance, such machine was briefly mentioned in the book "History of plane construction in the USSR before 1938" by V.Shavrov. Description of such machines were published in Soviet magazines and editions on technology. This is one of the descriptions concerning operation of an invisible plane. "Two pursuit planes I-16 were set a problem: they must take off after an experimental plane, catch up with it and keep a look-out. Video shooting was to be done from the surface at the same time. But the pursuit failed, as the pursuit planes lost the experimental plane. Spectators who remained on the surface couldn't see it as well. They just heard the sound of its engine several times sounding quite close, above the city and above the fields, but the pursuit planes were some distance away from the place. Operators failed to videotape the pursuit as they saw nothing at all. The pursuit planes had to land soon as they couldn't see the object of the pursuit. Soon the sound of the invisible plane was heard. The spectators saw that grass fell under the pressure of the plane's air-blast. Then the engine was stopped, and the plane was visible on the strip again." So, fantasy was turning into reality: it was already possible to make objects invisible. But then radio locators were created. This made invisible planes correspond other requirements, they was to operate in a different radiation range. The principle of radar's operation is simple: a secondary echo from some object is received by the radar input device. At long distances the secondary echo is insignificant, it can be compared with the light of a flash-light that is 20 kilometers from an observer. But modern air defence systems can detect it as well. Bulgarian engineer, Colonel Todor Andreyev wrote in 1988 that machines developed in accordance with the Stealth program had been developed in the USA since 1975; the program was strictly classified, that is why any publications on the problem were brief and contradictory starting with 1977. Invisible planes are very dangerous, this can be seen from Richard Cheney's statement saying that one Stealth bomber could have performed the operation in Libya. For the attack at Libya, the USA used 18 F-111 bombers, 15 naval force bombers, 28 refueller planes, several planes of electronic resistance, control planes and regular bombers ...there was one "invisible" plane, F-117 among 68 American planes brought down during the conflict between the USA and Iraq in 1991. Experts say, the cockpit and the surface of an invisible plane cannot be detected by radars, but such planes are visible from the side rather well. What is more, such invisible planes become quite unprotected when their bomb hatches are open. London's Guardian wrote: "Russian scientists developed a technology invisible for radiolocators, that was used for creation of invisible plane Stealth. It was this warplane that has become the symbol of America's scientific superiority in refined spheres of heavy armament during the last decade of the cold war. This was an official statement of American scientist Ben Rich." The scientist said that they came across the idea accidentally, they never hoped that the USSR would make such a present in the press openly. The American scientist refers to a lengthy technical publication by prominent Russian scientist Pyotr Ufimtsev, the article was published in Moscow in 1966. Information about invisible planes was hidden deep in the publication ...a technology stolen in Russia, they were produced and used in the attacks at Yugoslavia.

... VAPOR TRAIL INVISIBLE AIRCRAFT ...Like your experience, the aircraft was invisible, yet the vapor trail still formed. When I first saw the trail forming in the distance, I got my wife's camera and 500 mm telephoto lens. Looking through, I still saw no plane, just the vapor trail. I then called my wife, who came outside just in time to see the plane appear right in front of our eyes. I took a couple of pictures. The plane had four engines, and was a white, standard jetliner/tanker /commercial aircraft. When I thought about why I didn't see the plane, I wondered if the atmosphere could've somehow naturally masked the plane from my sight. I considered it doubtful, since it remained invisible from the horizon until it was straight over my head, and because of the immediate transition from invisible to visible. So active camouflage is a possibility. I first read about that several years ago, in a cover story of 'Popular Mechanics' magazine. But why would (presumably) the military want to conceal an aircraft over a big city? ...I've taken several photos of them as they turn the spray on and off. After a while, it became like sport, trying to catch them 'in the act'. That's why I grabbed the camera for this latest plane. Normal vapor contrails don't "turn on or off." By the way, the day of my "invisible plane sighting" was yet another "spray day." A couple of hours afterward, the sky was again covered with a grid of vapor trails. After reading and observing, I've come up with a theory. I think it's merely a secret SDI program to place a catalyst in the air, to enhance the effectiveness of an electromagnetic 'boundary layer' in the upper atmosphere. China and Russia would be upset if they knew we had an operational Star Wars system. Solution? Keep it secret, even from American citizens. And that, my friend, explains the invisible aircraft. [2-19-01.]

Stealth Tech: An Explanation For Disappearing Aircraft & Persistent Contrails? Human Made High Technology is being presented as an explanation for "disappearing aircraft"... One must consider both prosaic explanations and exotic Defense R&D... Electrochromatic panels (tiny video sensors) on the skin of aircraft is one such exotic technology... It might be enlightening to visit the Project Chameleon/Richard N. Schowengerdt's website which presents papers, videos and drawings explaining some of the more recent research projects conducted by research scientist and the Air Force... <http://members.aol.com/rschow173/chameleon.html> and take a look at the following patent: Cloaking Using Electro-Optical Camouflage, Patent No. 5,307,162 issued 26 April 1994. Electrochromatic Panels in May, 1997 POPULAR SCIENCE article.)

GROOM LAKE TESTS TARGET STEALTH (Aviation Week of February 5, 1996, pp 26-27, by David A. Fulghum/Washington).

While it is possible that many experimental missions and varying atmospheric conditions are occurring in our atmosphere and that stealth tech/camouflage undoubtedly is being developed, one must ask the following questions: What would be the purpose of using such stealth tech (if economically and technologically feasible) in non-combat situations in the skies above populated areas? If it is feasible, why would it be necessary? Who are they hiding from?

...a blinking out "craft" and its persistent contrail is the experimentation of 'emissions cloaking' along with aircraft camouflage. Much R&D is taking place in radar jamming and emissions control...but why would our military be testing or using such cloaking devices over a populated area in mid day? Again: Who are they hiding from?

...I think it is very probable that our government has developed much stealth and camouflage technology... Myself and others have witnessed not only something looking like an aircraft suddenly and inexplicably vanish before our eyes...but have witnessed the craft and its miles-long persistent contrail vanish simultaneously. One of these startling events took place on 12/23/99 at 8:10am CST near Lake Lewisville, TX just north of Dallas... few clouds to the southeast-- otherwise a fairly clear sky. As I watched to the east, I spotted an aircraft flying east just south of my position creating a broad white persistent contrail at about 15,000 feet. I noted a very slight haze in that area of the sky but had no trouble seeing this craft clearly through my 10x50 binoculars... Just as this aircraft moved out of view into the cloud bank to the southeast -- I spotted what I thought was another aircraft spewing out a persistent contrail moving from the southeast toward me taking a NW heading. The contrail behind this apparent aircraft was broad but fairly thin as compared with the other one just formed and seemed to be on an upward incline... Suddenly, while I had the object and part of the persistent contrail in sight with my binoculars -- the object or aircraft inexplicably disappeared-- blinked out totally not to return.

... What purpose would it serve to be visible then suddenly become invisible during a PC run (in supposedly non-combat, non-experimental situations)? From whom are they hiding?

I was watching this plane like a hawk and it didn't look like it was solid it looked transparent as I was watching this plane it suddenly disappeared for a Couple of seconds it reappeared but it reappeared as a silver ball with what looked like antennas or fins sticking out of it then it hovered for couple of seconds in the one spot then shot up into the sky at tremendous speed at a 90 degree angle and disappeared...

The airbase where the show was located was about 100 km east of the city we were in, where my Dad worked at the airport. He was in flight services (radio), so he knew about the flyby beforehand. We went out to the tarmac and waited... and waited... There is a north-south runway and you can see planes on approach (in those conditions) for about 5 minutes. Two minutes to flyby time... we still waited... Flyby time passed. We heard a faint sound of jets. There was a black horizontal line in the sky. The black line did a steep bank, standing on its wing and turning 90 degrees to the west until we could see the entire pancake-like underside of the plane. It was right there, probably only 1000 feet off the deck (I used to fly, so I guesstimated), right over the tarmac, huge and large as life! There was a roar of jets and it disappeared off to the west. stealth jets aren't invisible... but wow! [Jimbo 07, 17th August 2006, 08:10 AM.]

The object on the left was video taped on 9-11-2001 darting over the world trade center seconds after the second tower was hit. The object on the right is a photograph of a B2 stealth bomber over Hollywood on New Years Day morning 2003.

We looked up but did not see anything of any substance. After about one minute, the object seemed to be hovering directly above our location. We still did not see anything. Suddenly, there was an intense flash of light like a million flashbulbs going off at once. There was a pause...and then another intense flash of light approx 5 seconds after the first, and finally a third flash... At no time did we observe anything, just the incredibly deep throbbing sound and the three flashes of light. I am a private pilot with several hundred hours of flight time. I also have approx 12,000 hrs of time in various types of helicopters and fixed wing aircraft as a professional firefighter. I am familiar with all the types of aircraft that are flown in the NWT and have never experienced flight characteristics this object exhibited. [2-10-6]

With what we have been studying we can respond the 2000 three times posted question by Brenda Livingston that the purpose for such cloaking stealth technology is for the government to pull events like 9/11 against its own fellow Americans and abroad!

'Thunder Over Louisville' Ends With Patriotic Bang. ... In a preamble to the show, two 60-foot American flags sailed above the Ohio River, illuminated by spotlights as they were towed by seemingly invisible aircraft, fluttering majestically against the black, cloudless sky... more than 800,000 spectators... The spectacular display culminated two days of Louisville embracing the nation's armed forces.

Then, the whistles blown by Republican Charles R. Smith:

How about an invisible airplane? Stealth aircraft such as the B-2 and the F-117A are not new. It is well known that the B-2 and F-117A are practically invisible to radar but the aircraft themselves can be seen. One reported robot plane project was also nearly invisible to the naked eye in broad daylight...

Yahootie returns?

An advanced version of Yahootie, a robot driven surveillance aircraft is reported to use a combination of lights, low noise engines, and radar absorbing skin to render itself practically invisible in day light. The robot aircraft is not only invisible to radar but its skin is layered with an array of high intensity lights that broadcast the same output as the sky around it.

Weapons of the Future Are Here. Friday, Feb. 11, 2005. Robots and Invisible Planes Dominate 21st Century Combat... Invisible aircraft and robot planes that hunt and kill used to be the stuff of science fiction. The dangers of the modern battlefield has put unmanned systems at the forefront of warfare and inside wartorn Iraq. Northrop Grumman has finished the first phase of testing its new medium-altitude Unmanned Aerial Vehicle (UAV). The aircraft is a prototype of the Hunter II drone, which is designed to conduct ground surveillance and act as a long-range communications node. One such weapon inside Iraq is the current U.S. Army Hunter I drone armed with a miniature guided munition named Viper Strike. Tests in combat with Viper Strike have led Pentagon planners to seek a better sensor system for the guided bomb... the Viper Strike small warhead is well suited for urban operations.

Predator A-B-C

General Atomics, the main competitor to Northrop, has recently completed sole-source contracts with the U.S. Air Force for its turbo-prop-powered Predator B. The conventionally powered Predator A became the first Unmanned Combat Aerial Vehicle (UCAV) when it destroyed a car full of terrorists inside Yemen. The Predator used a laser-guided Hellfire missile to target and destroy the moving vehicle. The Predator A also performed similar missions inside Afghanistan. General Atomics and USAF officials, however, are remaining mum on the Predator C program, which is currently classified. The jet-powered Predator C is slated to fly at altitudes in excess of 60,000 feet for 24 hours. While the Predator C program is officially in the dark, with USAF and GA officials denying its existence, the Defense Department recently awarded Pratt and Whitney a contract for small jet engines designed for the Predator C.

Senior Prom

Senior Prom is the code name for a subscale unmanned F-117 look-alike. According to most sources, the Senior Prom aircraft was to be the prototype for a future stealthy cruise missile launched by the B-52. The diamond-shaped robot plane was designed to evade radar detection by its special shape. However, newly released information shows the Senior Prom aircraft were actually stealthy unmanned reconnaissance drones launched from DC-130 Hercules mother ships. The Senior Prom aircraft flew missions similar to its unstealthily predecessor, the Fire Bee drone, taking low-altitude photographs and using sophisticated electronics to monitor communications and radar installations. The Senior Prom UAV may have made its first appearance on the battlefield during the Cold War, flying missions over Warsaw Pact nations. Later, the aircraft reportedly flew over Baghdad during the Gulf War and may have been used in covert flights over North Korea.

Chameleon

Anti-radar stealth was the big buzz of the 1980s and 1990s. However, stealth aircraft are visible to the naked eye, limiting attack missions to the dark of night. Visual stealth has not received the public attention of the anti-radar technology applied on the Senior Prom, F-117, B-2 and F-22 aircraft. There is now a major effort under way by the U.S. and U.K. military to make aircraft nearly invisible in daylight. In the U.S., visual stealth has reportedly received a major boost in funding. The increase in black budget is attributed to a shift in USAF tactics, away from standoff attacks using aircraft flying at 20,000 feet or more. Visual stealth aircraft can provide improved survivability against optical air defense systems and supply stealth attack capability to daylight operations. In the U.K., the British Defence Ministry has revealed for the first time a secret program working on visual stealth systems; the program is called Chameleon. The program used both manned and unmanned aircraft to test visual and infrared stealth technology. As predicted by this reporter, the visual stealth technology included fiber-optic lighting systems to diminish the contrast between an aircraft and the sky. In addition, a Hawk trainer jet was modified to use powerful light-emitting diodes to mask the aircraft. Advances in light-diode and fiber-optic panel technology can virtually mask an entire airplane against the bright daylight sky. The fact is that aircraft stand out against the bright sky as darker objects, but by using bright panels of light, the aircraft virtually disappears against the blue sky.

Yahootie

Ironically, the concept is not new. In the 1940s, the U.S. Navy developed operation "Yahootie," the first practical attempt to create an invisible aircraft. In early 1942, U.S. Navy bombers were considered too slow to visually spot a German U-boat cruising on the surface and attack in daylight. U-boat commanders often spotted the lumbering bombers and dived safely away before the planes could attack. In response, a string of bright lights was placed on the wings and propeller hubs of the sub-hunter planes. The bomber crews adjusted the lights to match the natural background light behind the aircraft, masking it against the sky. The principle is called isoluminosity, the perception that different objects displaying the same brightness seem indistinguishable from each other. The principle worked very well until late 1942, when the Navy introduced airborne radar, allowing bombers to spot and kill submarines beyond visual ranges. The Navy abandoned Yahootie in favor of radar. The U.S. may very well possess an advanced version of Yahootie, a surveillance aircraft that reportedly uses a combination of lights, low-noise engines and radar-absorbing skin to render itself practically invisible in daylight. Not only is the aircraft invisible to radar, but also its skin is layered with an array of high-intensity light panels that broadcast the same output as the sky around it. The daylight stealth aircraft may explain the recent reports of UFO sightings over Iran and North Korea and a series of unidentified aircraft sightings inside and around the U.S... While invisible aircraft and robot planes may seem to be weapons of the future, one thing is clear: The future is now.

UFO Secrets Thursday, Jan. 15, 2004. ... these advanced vehicles... these new systems are of very earthly origin. During the early 1960s the CIA launched a secret project called "Ox Cart," not to hide alien life forms but to hide a multimillion-dollar spy plane. Ironically, for a project named after one of the slowest vehicles on Earth, Ox Cart involved one of the fastest creations in flight history, pioneered by aviation legend Kelly Johnson. The Ox Cart vehicle was to replace the high-flying U-2, also built by Lockheed and Kelly Johnson. The CIA sought a replacement for the U-2 after the Soviet Union shot down Francis Gary Powers over its territory. In response to the CIA requirement, Kelly Johnson and his team at Lockheed's famed Skunk Works developed the SR-71 Blackbird. The SR-71 could fly higher than the U-2, over 100,000 feet, and traveled at over three times the speed of sound. As part of Ox Cart, the CIA also launched an effort to cover up the testing of its new high-flying reconnaissance plane. That effort included circulating stories of space aliens and flying saucers flying over the Western skies. The CIA cover story for the SR-71 worked well enough for it to remain a secret until President Lyndon Johnson [note: LBJ was one of the JFK assassins, with Nixon, GHW Bush then a CIA operative, the "CIA moody blessing of the mob," etc...] released details of the aircraft during a speech. For nearly 30 years the SR-71 remained the fastest aircraft in active service, flying over global hot spots in Asia, Europe and the Middle East. No Blackbird aircraft was ever lost to enemy action, but one was destroyed when it was launching an even faster vehicle. During the 1980s, several SR-71s were modified to carry a ramjet-powered unmanned vehicle designed to over-fly the most dangerous targets. The SR-71 was eventually retired and may have been replaced by the mysterious Stove Pipe craft that set off the earthquake detectors in California. Because of its nature and recorded high flight speed, most sources indicate that Stove Pipe was actually a manned version of the Aurora space plane.

Aurora

Although never officially confirmed, Aurora was also developed by the Lockheed Skunk Works during the 1980s. The space plane was designed to operate either in a manned or unmanned mode. Its Cold War mission was to penetrate the anti-missile defenses surrounding Moscow at Mach 8+ speeds and deliver nuclear bombs onto multiple targets. Aurora was described as a very large diamond-shaped vehicle and most likely powered by a hybrid jet-rocket engine technology... During wartime, the very powerful Aurora accelerated and changed directions at speeds that would crush a human [pilot] under the high G forces. Aurora's nuclear strike mission was intended to be without a pilot because a human simply would not survive the ride. However, Aurora had two great drawbacks: its price tag and its mission. Aurora reportedly was retired from service in the late 1990s due to budget constraints. Each vehicle reportedly cost over $2 billion. The price of Aurora operations could not be justified when the Cold War ended.

Invisible Airplanes

What is the Skunk Works testing today? The unofficial reports indicate that the super-secret aircraft builders are hard at work on an invisible airplane. Stealth was the watchword for the Lockheed F-117 Nighthawk. However, the stealthy strike fighter was visible to the naked eye, limiting its attack missions to the deep dark of night. Today, advances in light panel technology are pushing the limits of invisible airplanes. The fact is that aircraft stand out against the bright sky as darker objects, but by using bright panels of light the aircraft virtually disappears against the blue sky. An advanced version of Yahootie, a manned surveillance aircraft, reportedly uses a combination of lights, low-noise engines and radar-absorbing skin to render itself practically invisible in daylight. The aircraft not only is invisible to radar but also its skin is layered with an array of high-intensity light panels that broadcast the same output as the sky around it. What was Lockheed Test 2334? While the technology may seem out of this world, it is certain that Test 2334 is no UFO. Clearly, Test 2334 was flown by a USAF pilot and not ET.

What Al Gore forgot to tell his audience was that he not only supported eavesdropping on Americans without court approval – he also chaired a project designed to execute just that in total secrecy. In short, Al Gore wanted to bug every phone, computer and fax in America. In 1993 Al Gore was charged by then President Bill Clinton to run the "Clipper" project... In February, the National Security Agency (NSA) refused to release the Clipper information provided to Hillary Clinton and convicted Whitewater figure Webster Hubbell until 2005. The Clipper idea to monitor thousands, perhaps millions, at once, has been reborn again and again inside secret government computer labs, most recently in the form of "Carnivore" – an FBI program designed to monitor all Internet traffic.

Dear C. Lopez and Hon. Tom Davis,

Thanks for your answer. I really wish with all my heart to be wrong.

However, don't the Hon. Mr. Davis thinks that it is important for our people to carefully analyze the details of each video and let them to decide?

Authorities are to serve communities and not the money powers.

Just one historic example, search for the Congressional Record, Proceedings and Debates of the 76th Congress, Third Session. Page 13 of the remarks by the Hon. J. Thorkelson of Montana, in the House of Representatives, Monday, Aug. 19, 1940 entitled "Steps Towards British Union, a World State, and International Strife." Part IV, where he declared:

"Let me call your attention to the fact that on the reverse of the great seal of the United States, which appears on our dollar bills, you will find the exact symbol of the British - Israel world federation movement. This symbol is also carried on literature of other organizations promoting a world government and a world religion. At the bottom of the circle surrounding the pyramid you will find the wording "Novus Ordo Seclorum." It was this new order that was advocated by Clinton Roosevelt several hundred years ago; recently in Philip Dru, and now followed by the Executive."

"Do you not think, as good American people, that the administration has gone far from constitutional government, when there is inscribed a symbol on the reverse of our great seal, that advocates a new order? Yes, an order which means the destruction of our Republic as formulated in the Constitution of the United States."

How many Websites or Blogs are commenting on that, coming from the very official records? Not even one. How many are dissecting the chronology of the advanced aerial aircraft visible on 911? The answer is the same... Prof. Dixon was threatened by Secret Service personnel by writing a follow up of only one simple example of the multitude of not reported and very advanced aircraft flying and, we claim, orchestrating the 911 deception?

This was the article of Prof. Dixon (please, read there its note at the end of the article): The Flying Elephant: Evidence for Involvement of a Third Jet in the WTC Attacks.

Don't you think that the CFR, the Federal Reserve plus Secrecy and Secret Societies in Power are killing The American Foundation, at least since 1913? What can citizens do about that?

What can we do then? To turn down our heads and say yes to whatever deception the Powers in Office decide on Americans? Is it good the follow-up of the "Patriot Act" or takes away our freedoms? What about Rumsfeld's desire to control even more the media? What about of Cheney's constant terrorizing of Americans by saying that the war on terror is a very long battle? Why if they are orchestrating the whole scare? That's what our observations conclude but this is a free society, so, thanks for expressing your views.

Do you know that they will need to wipe out 3/4 of the aware American population? Part of the 1/4 remaining U.S. people are the unawares and the rest... those are the 'secretive' and lofty perpetrators themselves.

A collaborator sent us this letter he received days ago:

February 23, 2007

Dear Dr. _____

Thank you for informing me of your opposition to the continued occupation in Iraq and escalation of troop levels. I'm pleased that you took the time to share your views.

I share your concerns, and I have been actively pushing for an end to the war in Iraq. Since January I have spoken out on the floor of the House of Representatives and in the Democratic Caucus, introduced legislation to protect the troops and bring them home, issued statements to the press calling for withdrawal of the troops, appeared on local and national television and radio, recorded and released a podcast on my position on Iraq, and been featured in numerous blogs, newspapers, and magazines urging an end to the conflict. I also participated in a forum on Capitol Hill with former Senator and former Presidential candidate George McGovern, where we discussed ways to safely bring the troops home. In addition, I have cosponsored numerous Iraq-related bills and resolutions offered by Rep. Murtha, Rep. Kucinich, Rep. Woolsey and Rep. Lee.

If we want to end America's military involvement in Iraq's civil war, the only way we can overcome the President's stubbornness in keeping us involved in this misguided effort is to limit the use of the funds to protecting our troops while carrying out a withdrawal. That is why I introduced a bill to force a new direction in Iraq. The Protect the Troops and Bring Them Home Act, H.R. 455, provides that no funds can be used in Iraq except to protect our troops and to arrange for their withdrawal beginning in one month and ending by December 31, 2007. It also provides that the number of U.S. troops in Iraq cannot be increased at any time.

I am committed to pressing these issues and I hope you, too, will continue to help keep up the pressure. Together, we will see to it that the debacle in Iraq is brought to a close, and that those in the Bush Administration who are responsible for it are held accountable.

Thank you again for conveying your views. Please do not hesitate to contact me in the future if I may be of assistance on this or any other matter of concern.

Sincerely,

JERROLD NADLER

Now, obviously, this begs the question, where did they all go?

We are absolutely convinced that there were people who died on 9-11, and that they numbered "in the thousands." (usually the estimate is about 2000, comensurate with the calendrical millennium celebrated contemporarily). But add up the passengers on the planes. Even count the heads of the hijackers. Now, imagine that the rest are made up from victims inside the Pentagon and WTC Towers. Let's say there were around 500 killed at the Pentagon, which seems an unbelievably high sum considering what little damage the actual building sustained. This would leave anywhere from 500 to a 1000 people in either of the twin towers that morning. But Sept. eleventh that year was slow Tuesday and there had been construction (installing new security systems) in many of the floors the prior week that meant many of the usual employees who would have been there that day were actually off otherwise occupied when they would normally have been at work.

Nevertheless, if you look at the number objectively, it is still a seemingly very small toll to pay in such a massive tragedy to the national consciousness. Now do not look at this as from the perspective of the old eugenics saying: "if you want to make an omelette, you have to break some eggs." Instead, look at it with calm and compassion, and see that the value of some 2950 people issued death certificates on that day is not in dispute, only being weighed against the response taken in defense on that day, which has led us, inexorably, here to the war in Iraq, which has claimed between:

Ultimately, we absolutely HAVE to ask ourselves:

are the 2996 max number of dead we suffered on 9-11 worth the cost of the max 79475 (to date) other human beings who have been killed to revenge them?

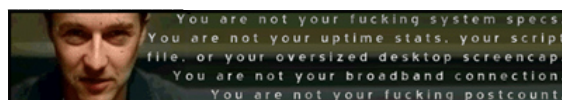

Please understand that my purpose in making this comparison is neither to discredit nor bolster the opinion of either group of our dearly departed. I, for one, do not need mere "belief" in some vague, mediated concept of an "afterlife," because I, for one, know the mechanisms of reincarnation, and understand the science of transcendence.

I know that there can be communication with the dead, however that it can be difficult if this is focused only through one conduit. The dead de-coagulate, become discoporeal, and exist in a vague, nebulous, cloud-like state relative to our usually density of perception.

I believe this is what must have happened to those who died on 9-11. Now I have said, there were no people on the planes. They had, in a very real, however spiritual sense, already died. They were in a position (in a remote-controlled kamikaze mission) of utter helplessness to prevent their inevitable and perpetually encroaching demise. In this situation, like in no regular hijack situation, they had a very real feeling of being in a certain-death scenario. Thus, by the time their physical bodies had died, their ethereal minds had, for the most part, already ascended and left behind their empty husks.

All of this certainly sounds very alien to me, but just wait. It'll get weirder real quick.

I'm having trouble getting on board with the mind controlled passenger theory. Not only because I don't understand the technology nor do I know of anyone who would have the capability or the mental acumen to think of such a thing, but why do it? Wouldn't it be easier just to drop the passengers off somewhere, kill them all, and then fly empty remote controlled drones painted to look like 747s into the towers? That seems more likely.

It's pretty clear, no matter what the exact details are, that the September 11th attacks are the beginning of an attempt to implement world government. This has been a plan for a very long time.

They need another terrorist attack to truly take over. A battle is occurring right now, between the warriors of light and the minions of darkness.

first let's look at these specific accounts, and, to be as specific as possible, let's only look at the evidence that was captured that day on video.

First, because this is such a shocking topic to discuss so openly, I'd like to introduce the idea of UFOs having been seen on 9-11 at the WTC by showing you the video of the first plane crashing into the south tower. So remember, the point of view is downtown, closer to the Bronx, so expect to hear some swearing. After this we'll look at some pictures from the north side as well.

<http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/911UFO/2stplane.mpg>

What I want you to pay extra-careful super-special close attention to is something dark and angular darting upward and to the right across the screen from lower left, just at the moment the newscaster says: "first plane." The second UFO follows this in the snap-zoom and appears just to the right of the top of the airplane-struck tower. It appears less dark, more silvery metallic, however it is only in frame a second or two before the camera shakes and loses sight of it. You can see this second UFO just as the newscaster says, "that went into."

I'll come back to that clip of the first plane hitting (the footage was recorded live and aired shortly after the second plane struck), but first let me quickly introduce another example of the same type of unidentified airborne phenomenon (the literal definition of a UFO), this time involving the second plane, the one that struck the north tower.

I want to warn you, this is going to come as a big shock to you probably, as it would to a lot of people. Most people are still clinging to what Jim Morrison called "the woolly cotton brains of infancy" and "the young child's fragile, egg-shell mind." You have been conditioned to look at the plane. But this was only misdirection all along.

So, we've now seen this phenomenon during the impact of both the planes that struck the WTC "Twin" Towers. Here's a couple more shots of one of these unidentified flying object thingies hovering over WTC7 not only earlier in the day, while the twin towers still stood, but still there even later in the afternoon when WTC7 itself finally imploded.

here's a still from the second plane-strike. The UFO is the bright white dot in the far right, about level with the impact:

here's a couple stills I made myself from the mp3 clip I just posted. This is the "second" object (appearing from the right side and remaining more or less stationary):

Notice these two very specific characteristic states of appearance for these specific, 9-11 related UFOs. They appear to "shape-shift" between a flickering shadow and a shiny sphere. I'll come back to these in a moment.

First let me say that the people who are still investigating the originally playfully realised fact of the "flight of the bumble-planes" scenario are plagued by disinformation. For every valid photograph one can provide from the events that depicts an actual visible phenomenon, there will also be one that is a total fake forgery made to stir up confusion by anarchists. Consider these following examples:

I think this one is definately my favourite:

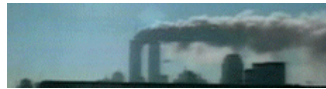

it shows what appears to be, quite clearly really, a bird-like, flying human almost the entire size of the one of the jet-liners themselves. Now I won't say outright that this is fake, but please do take into account that this particular graphic was CNN footage that was then re-distributed (presumably in this altered form) by PAX (Christian) TV.

On the page where I found out about the UFO's now being referred to as "Orbs" (a term I'll explain in a moment), the above PAX-hoax was de-bunked simply enough as a computer-graphic of a bird, and their counter-example was this image:

This image is also obviously either an angel or a bird. Mostly the forgers can be rooted out easily, though, since the phenomena they describe, and the footage they produce as "proof" of this, is never in-line with the remainder of the evidence that exists from all the fact-seeking researchers into these events.

Consider this next batch of Japanese contributions to the 9-11 Truth Movement's cause,  :

The trajectory of this ridiculously otherwise visible flight-path through the city immediately reminded me of Keanu Reeves' character Neo "flying to the rescue" in the 2002 sequel to the 1999 blockbuster the Matrix.

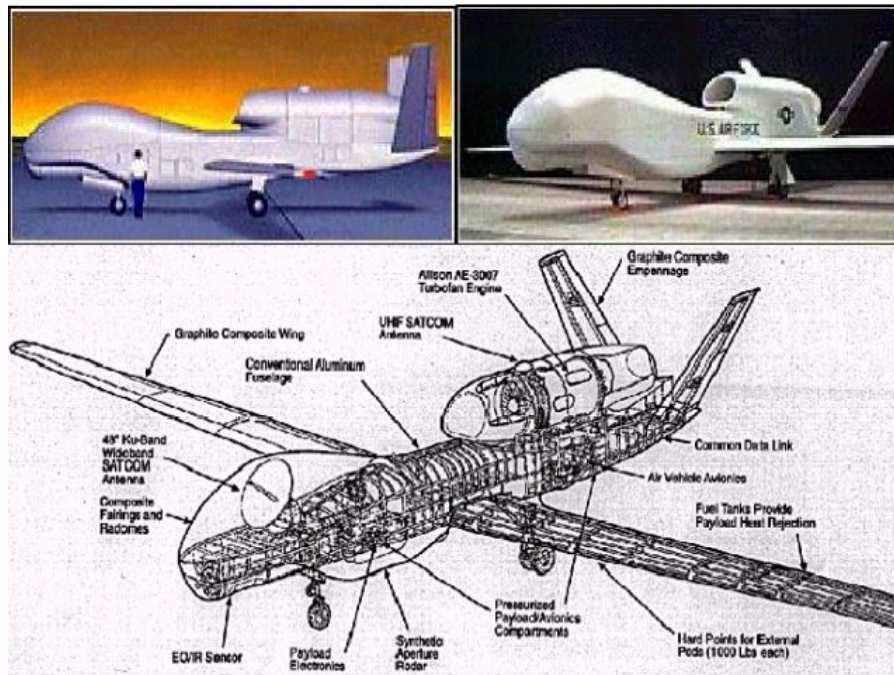

The newest footage to have "appeared" is this configuration, which shows the same sort of elongated, formless black streak as in the PAX "angel" and the "Neo saving Trinity" phenomenon. As such, I would class all the elongated dark streak phenomenon as suspect of forgery.

Instead, the people that used to study the "bumble-plane" theory, and who now refer to the same technology, since witnessed, then only speculated, simply as "Orbs," study the dual phenomenon of the shadowy, dark angular shifting abstract refraction of light exemplified half the time and the other aspect of appearance of what seems logically to be the same object, the mercurial sphere shape from which the "Orb's" take their name.

They agree, unanimously, on the more logical, scientific answer, that these phenomenon are merely optical-illusions caused by a new kind of "stealth" technology developed by air-force "black-ops" (such as Area 51). They say the "Orbs" can "cloak."

However, if you zoom in close enough on some of these objects, such as the very clear and sharply defined images in frames 11 and 12 of the second plane impact UFO above, you can definately discern they are not always merely "spherical." Sometimes they come in pairs, like the humps on a camel. In fact, if you were able to make the "cloaked" aircraft out perfectly, the "bumble-plane" and "Orb" theorists claim, you would only be looking at an advanced air-force stealth plane, but nothing actually extraterrestrial in origin.

The "bumble-plane" itself is the "Global Hawk," an UAV (un-manned aerial vehicle).

here is an early schematic print and model of it.

Here it is in a hangar for size-comparison.

Here it is preparing to be deployed sometime around the time of the crash of Flight TWA800 in the late 90's (which is when I first heard of it).

Originally, UAVs were used as spy-planes across otherwise harsh or hostile territory by US soldiers in combat in Saudi-Arabia during the first Gulf War. However the application to the aircraft of the most advanced and latest ("star wars" era gadgets) stealth tech from the "skunk works" and other clandestine operators proves that not only could it have been used to remote-control the jet-liners on 9-11, but it could also have served to electro-magnetically mesmerize them to incapacitation. From what I know about the electro-magnetic "sound-buffers" used on stealth "black" helicopters in the early 90's they can be used either to muffle the sound of the copter's rotors, or they can be turned "inside-out" and used as a projective energy device capable of honing in on its target with laser-like precision.

That big camel's hump-like bulge above the rear thrust engine is a huge sound-muffler. The front "hump" where the cockpit would be is where all the electronic surveillance equipment is housed.

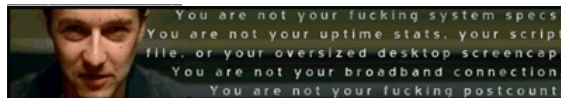

Alot of the mind-control victims' testimonies and case-work I've researched agrees on the ability of "stealth" type technology being applied to use in the field of MK. I'll get to this more in my next post, which will actually deal straight up with the "alien" aspect of my theory. For now though, one last parting contrail of a thought before I pass the fudge out.

Why aren't more people talking about these apparent UFO's at the scene on 9-11? Could it be because they have lost their faith in the extraterrestrial mythos and now believe all UFOs are just "Bumble-Planes" cloaked to appear like "Orbs"? What does this bode for our collective unconsciousness then?

on that note, g'night, sweet dreams, I'm out.

C) I've spoken before about the drone planes I believe were used to override the cockpit controls. I believe these also used mind-control technology (VLF EMF and ZPE) to project inside the minds of the passengers the image of an attacker where none actually existed. The result of the drone plane's VLF EMF remote-control of the plane and mind-control of the pasengers (including the pilots and any potential "terrorists") was, and this is the most far-fetched and potentially shocking aspect of this theory, the appearance between the passengers and the empty cockpit of a hallucinated presence, the focal emphasis of the drone-plane's mind-control projection. To some this "being" would have appeared as like an angel of light, while to others it would appear as a small grey alien, while to others, it might have even appeared as "terrorists." The role of this "alien" presence was to nullify the passengers' capacity for resistance, to essentially confuse and numb them into compliance with the situation until it would be too late for them to prevent their fate. In three of the four cases this seems to have worked, however on UAL93 the passengers are believed to have attempted to "re-take" the cockpit.

Let me start here with a brief summary of mind-control operations in N. America from the 1950's on.

By now, everyone (and, I'm guessing, especially everyone here) already knows about MK-ULTRA, the CIA's series of experiments using LSD during the early 1960's. The stated goal was to find a "truth serum" (apparently one more reliable than sodium-pentathol, a mere salt-based placebo). Most of the documents were destroyed by Senator Jesse Helms in the late 1970's, but hundreds of lesser classified documents have been released since then confirming the use of LSD in projects such as ARTICHOKE (early 60's), BIG CITY (mid-60's) and MK-SEARCH (late 60's and, presumably, ongoing at the time of Helms destruction of the documents, since it was the most recent one listed then).

It should be noted that MK-ULTRA used other methods of experimentation than only LSD, and that, by the time of Project Search, was using all sorts of drugs and hypnotic sessions to research more than only its original goal of the perfect "truth serum." It should also be recalled that the first CIA tests with LSD were done in the local prison and mental asylum of Vaceville, California. This patient testing pool was utilised straight through till the mid 1970's, when, although never admitted in the US, the CIA was conducting experiments in Canada with Dr. Ewen Cameron.

Even by the mid to late 1960's Dr. Jose DelGado had demonstrated remote EMF "mind-control" by implanting a receptor chip in a bull's brain and shocking it when it charged at him. Although, as they say, "the record runs dry" on CIA mind-control (the designation MK refers to "mind-kontrolle" experiments done in Germany at Dachau by IG Farben, business-partners of IBM) after MK-SEARCH in the mid-70's, it is clear that there were other methods of mind-control being employed by that point than merely drug testing.

In the early 1980's, the CIA began another phase of mind-experimentation. This was Project Star-Gate, research into military applications of "remote-viewing." Although the released information on this does not indicate that drugs were used, many of the same sorts of technology used by the mid-70's in MK projects were employed in the remote viewing operations.

Without going too much further into matters of mind-experimentation later than Star-Gate in the mid-80's, it should be obvious by now that later reports by alledged victims claiming UFO abduction and making reference also to high-technologies allowing time-travel being used by or in conjunction with government complicity (although we hesitate to name a specific branch of the intelligence agencies, and prefer the joke-term "M.I.B." for men-in-black) must be taken to some extent more seriously in light of past evidence of covert operations involving US citizens.

What I'll talk about now instead of the more theoretical implications of these later projects is some of the material known to have been developed by the earlier projects that we know more about. In other words, it's not necessary to talk about the implications of "implant" technology here, but one thing I will go into instead is the type of messages that could be delivered using such "implants" and then I'll mention a bit more about the scientific principles and possible technology allowing for the projection of sub-audial or direct cortex stimulation.

One of the methods used by Dr. Cameron in the Candian MK-ULTRA experiments was called "psychic driving." Although this technique is ill-defined in the popular press that do, indeed, admit to its practise, the victims' testimony on its technique and methods is quite clear. It consisted of being induced to a deep hypnotic state either by use of drugs, electro-shock, ritual sexual abuse, or other forms of over-stimulus trauma. Following this a single message would be repeated to the deep-unconscious subject, sometimes for hours on end.

The effects of hearing this phrase in a conscious state were then ascertained. Depending on the inducing trauma involved, the subject was found to act accordingly: it would reduce them to the unconscious state exactly as does a "post-hypnotic suggestion" and their conscious-self would simply "go to sleep" until a second command-phrase or "post-hypnotic suggestion" was repeated to re-induce consciousness. This period of ego-unconsciousness is known as a "black-out" and is also reported by many UFO abductees.

"Psychic driving," according to those who underwent the process, was actually much more effective than the observers of their behaviour in this event could account for though.

Subsequent research has come to indicate that, for each traumatic dissociative event we experience in our lives, a new personality is born and the one which existed before the experience figuratively "dies" to our consciousness, but is, actually, retained and simply "goes to sleep" or "blacks out." This allows deeply "repressed" subconscious or unconscious memories to be re-experienced under hypnosis, and accounts for the apparent lapse in the hypnosis subject's into the vocal patterns and thoughts they had at the time the remembered experience originally occurred.

Thus, it was discovered, by inducing a traumatic experience, the subject's prime-persona could be "blocked out" and a subsequent persona would be "born" or would "re-emerge." Now, the ability to trigger this effect after the fact also implies the ability to trigger this effect at a distance.

Usually we have one primary "voice in our head," and this we control by our own will-power and it can think whatever it knows words to express. However, there have been countless reports filed by prisoners, mental patients and children claiming that, at times, they can "hear" other voices inside their minds than merely the "primary voice," that these other voices "seem to be able to hear and communicate with the "primary voice," and that, sometimes, the "primary voice" has not been under their control, and, and their will-power entirely circumvented.

If a patient claims to "hear voices," the knee-jerk reaction is to call them "crazy." If a patient reports that they have "answered back" to the voices they claim to hear, they are diagnosed clinically "psychotic" and usually locked away. It is usually this very disempowerment over their own fate that causes such a person to suffer a "psychotic break" at which point they are no longer "in control over themselves."

Excluding the use of drugs to account for these events, we can only admit in good conscience to a certain degree of possibly factual telepathy or "mind-reading" as some form of genetic mutation. Beyond this, however, to admit to the notion of mutual psychic "rapport" between two people is considered dangerous to each individual's willpower, and to admit to perpetual telepathy between all individuals is considered very dangerous to the individuality and the will-power of us all. However, beyond this, we have to admit there must be a reason for this "knee-jerk" feeling of our individuality's ego being threatened to occur.

As early as the 1950's the FBI had uncovered the use by MUZAK radio of the use of "subliminal advertising." The sub-audial messages were considered benign enough, including "buy more" and "don't steal," however some of them were of a more esoteric nature such as "mommy and I are one," and "it's okay to do better than daddy."

The messages later reported by prison inmates and psychiatric patients were of a much more malignant and direct intent. One such example is "I have the devil's heart inside me." Another is "whenever I remember this I will cut and hurt myself."

It is clear to anyone who has studied Leary's psychological analysis of the 8-circuits I mentioned earlier that such "primal" messages of "approach" (ie. relax and shop) and "retreat" / "attack" (ie. suicide or kill-switches) are meant to appeal to our most deeply unconscious emotional levels. Hence the entire "fear v. love" philosophy surrounding research into 9-11.

Now, I obviously can't substantiate the ability to remote-control a person's mind to the extent they are willing to kill themselves, since anyone who underwent such an experience thus far has actually gone through with the accompanying act. Nor can I provide government authorised official documents proving beyond any shadow of a doubt the ability by any technological or remote broadcast means to project visual phenomenon of a hallucinatory nature, either known of today or known of in 2001. All I have to go on in terms of "official research" after the paper-trail runs out in the late 1980's is the testimony of mind-control victims.

I would recommend the following resources for further research to anyone interested in finding out more about these topics:

Hey Ben, you know what I just heard from a friend of mine? He said that he read a few months ago, that the person who bought the WTC and assured them, has PAYED, and it was official, to INSTALL the demolition charges into the building, in case that it will be falling. So that instead a wtc falling on the side, crushing other buildings, it would be demolished. That wa it would cut the insurance bill etc. I didnt have time to investigate it myself, so if you are intersted, thats a tip for ya.

In truth, the people who planted these bombs inside were probably the former Iraqi Royal Guard, brought over after Gulf War I, who also orchestrated the OK City bombing in the late 90's. But this only provides a "fall-back" story of collusion between Al-Qeida and Iraq under Saddam that is not true either.

what was on the 95th and 96th floors of the north tower, which were rented by Marsh & McLennan, Lewis Paul "Jerry" Bremer's company?

Bremer, it should be noted, was the Bush-appointed proconsul or administrator of occupied Iraq until the end of June 2004. During Bremer's reign there was no metering of the oil that was exported from Iraq. It is also primarily decisions taken by Bremer that are responsible for the misery and chaos that have afflicted Iraq since the U.S.-led occupation began. Previously, Bremer was the right-hand man for Henry Kissinger & Associates.

on the 95th floor, Marsh & McLennan had a "large walled data center along north and east sides," according to the NIST report. And that's exactly where the plane hit – the north wall of the 95th floor.

Mr. Silverstein has said that he would like to refinance the property and replace Blackstone and Banc of America Securities with other creditors. But this would require astute maneuvering and negotiating on the part of the 71-year-old developer, given the history of the building's debt. Originally, Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association provided him some $450 million in construction financing, but he had to restructure this debt during the real-estate recession of the early 1990s. At that time, he gave TIAA an "equity kicker" amounting to 40% of the building's value over $475 million, people familiar with the financing say.

In 2000, a Blackstone real-estate fund purchased the TIAA debt along with the kicker, financing the deal through a private placement of $383 million in commercial mortgage-backed securities lead managed by Banc of America Securities. For Mr. Silverstein to be able to buy out Blackstone, they would have to agree on the value of the kicker, not an easy task when the property is nonexistent.

Consider that, under GHWB, our current president's father, the CIA funded: 1) the Afghan Mujahadeen who became the Taliban and Al Qaeda, 2) Saddam Hussein's Iraqi National Guard, and were in turn themselves funded largely by the sales of crack cocaine imported and processed from S. American cocaine (under Noriega), poppy grown in war-torn Afghanistan, imported and processed into heroin, and by the House of Saud, the potentates of the worst human rights violators around today beside China, and oil-rich Saudi Arabia. Also note that, since GWB's assension as appointed dictator, the people who had worked for his father GHWB in the CIA to orchestrate these transfers of funds have all gotten appointed to the highest positions of political authority in the land of the "free." Big. Red. Flag.

Think of America, and more specifically its federal government, and more particularly than that, the intelligence community of the US federal government, like a corporation, or even, like an insurance company. Hence why the CIA is referred to as "the Company" and its homebase at Langley referred to as the "Company Shop." Imagine the federal government being run like a board of directors, under an executive CEO who is at the whim of the primary stock-holder in the company's mutual fund's futures market. Now, imagine the role of the CIA within this "round table" or "think-tank" of chairmen and chief executive(s) as like watch dogs. Sometimes they guard the people who toss them scraps from the table of power, and other times they lash out with gnashing teeth at any competition they perceive for this crumbs and morsels. Imagine them as the "bean counters," the financial advisors, investment firms and stock-exchange banks who fund and are responsible for the day-to-day functioning of the "round table" board of CEOs.

Now imagine the CIA, these bean-counters (between the evidence-gathering FBI and the code-breaking NSA) out-sourced by the federal corporation like a lending agency of authority to command, the "Company," totaling up their debts and credit ledgers. Well, here we have "Afghanistan": "Mujahadeen" become "Taliban" and "Al-Qaeda." Large investment in Mujahadeen. Strategy: force recollection of debt from Taliban and Al-Qaeda. Mission: Accomplished. Then, in the credits column, huge contributions from oil-drilling Saudi-Arabia, the House of Saud. Pros: they are sitting on the largest oil reserves in the entire middle-east, second only (now known of) to the untapped Siberian oil fields. Cons: they are sitting on the Kaaba Stone at Mecca and the city of Medina, the ending and beginning points of the Prophet Mohammed on the first Hajj, or Holy Journey, of the Moslem faith. In order to effectively annex Iraq and Afghanistan to Saudi-Arabia (a country shunned by even the Shah of Iran for their human-rights abuses), the US CIA effectively "killed two birds with one stone" so to speak, by first building up Saddam Hussein as an example to the other royal and clerical leaders of the region and then, in traditional fashion, sacrificing him as a helpless scape-goat, the Pass-over sacrifice.

Now, the CIA is known to have infiltrated the television broadcasting networks early on in their development. As cross-border spies undercover they often influence or even become policy-makers in the target foreign nations. It is common for members of the CIA to go on to hold political office nowadays, both at home and abroad. These are the same "soldiers behind the scenes" that commit assassinations and foment revolutions in pre-industrial nations all over the world. They want to industrialise every nation, but only as cells working under Americorps, the "Cult of the All-seeing I". These are the same good old boys who played with LSD before the boys at Berkley were allowed to get their hands on it, and now they hold the highest political offices in the land. Any questions?

America is, currently but definitely, run like a corporation. The share-holders profit at the expense of those who do not "buy into it;" gas prices rise and the value of the dollar falls. "The rich get richer and the poor get poorer." They have all sorts of different names for this syndrome, from "neo-colonialism" to "neo-imperialism" to "neo-feudalism." Because of its religious angle (uniting the fanatics of the Christian, Jewish and Moslem sects the most), I call these little rat-fucks "neo-Sethians." But the point is that they are "neo": they are "new."

They are NOT "old money," and thus they are NOT some insane form of "Babylonian brotherhood" whose blood-lines trace back to the Annunaki demi-gods of Sumeria and who lack the Rhesus monkey chromosome in the blood because they were actually evolved not from primates like the rest of us but instead directly from dinosaurs. No, the CIA are just the CIA, they only just happen to worship the owl of Lilith (falsely associated with Molech, a solar deity). They are simply manifesting as worship of an ancient, now overthrown Goddess, their blood-lust and junk-habit for cash. Dollah dollah bills y'all.

Think of the US corp as to money what a junky is like to meth, speed or crack. It is literally the same. The rush of speed, the sudden feeling of self-empowerment of crack, the hyper-tense extra sensory awareness of meth and of any form of sudden uppers. Only it's real. The feeling of self-empowerment is not only a momentary delusion caused by the sudden burning away of thousands of nerve cells in the cerebellum. It is a material feeling of omnipotence that is daily reinforced and confirmed, and is like a drug in its ability to imprint itself on one's experience and needs. Yes, it is psychic, but it is not infallibly pre-cognitive. Only conspiracy delimits the chaos that clouds the signal of pre-cognition. Just like a junk habit is shared between the buyer and seller of underground drugs, the money-zombies share a form of group-think that allows them to use their minds alone (however weak by nature, supported by the strength of all) to bend the very fabric of reality, to alter the "luck plane" toward themselves. This is an inherited genetic mutation, that is, this actual materially manifest empowerment, this telekinesis or mind-control, just as is the proclivity for addiction to chemical substances.

It can be speculated, yes, that the mutation of telekinesis (mind-over someone else's grey-matter) goes hand in hand with money-addiction because money is a non-chemical, or entirely artificial "high." You ride the lows, you ride the highs. The thrill of being temporarily poor is almost as much as the thrill of being suddenly rich, yet both are based on the denial of obvious survival strategies engrained in our evolution since the agrarian revolution: save some aside, prepare for winter. Money itself, as "higher" or more rarified or more "ideal" form of conductivity for the transmission of chi from one entity to another, is a dead-end, zero-sum game. "Get rich or die trying," is as true for the poor as "stay rich by killing competitors" is for the wealthy elite. Eventually an eye for an eye leaves the whole world blind.

As a true Communist I myself often feel like a one-eyed man in the kingdom of the blind. I know that capital itself is a rapidly depleting resource, evaporating like so much steam into digital credit stored on transient data-bases. I watch the gas prices go up and I feel the insignificance of the individual.

But I digress...

F) the faction within the CIA in charge of 9-11 are actually fascists and NAZI-collaborators both during and after WWII, and they are acting in collaboration with a vast network of double-agent spies and "sleeper" agent politicians all funded off Swiss gold stolen during WWII, which was, itself, in turn orchestrated by globalist banking families as a means of furthering the social control-method of capitalism. (The old bankers also funded the Soviet communists though, so don't think of this as only a "right-wing" conspiracy either.)

No need to remind anyone the Italian fascisti were imported after WWII the same as key NAZI scientists, and that the mob, the so-called "black hand" of la cosinostra, operated from Sicily and run like a para-military group (essentially identical to the IRA), was formed from the start by the same people who had collaborated with the OSS in bringing over the Nazi scientists. This was all one group, right from the start, this "New" World-Order movement: you had the intelligence communities within the Allied nations (including later enemies US and USSR) that brought in and then worked with under cover of "black-budget" programs the Axis Nazis and the Italian black-shirts.

It's a widely known fact that most of the early CIA's concentrated activity was in Italy during the early 1950's. The mob is, essentially, the undercover version of the 15,000 troop Operation Gladio army raised to retake Italy for CIA-backed fascism. We've seen this method repeat with the "bay of pigs" invasion of Cuba when anti-Castro dissidents and political exiles were used to fund and arm a guerilla group to retake the government from the Communist left. We've seen this again with the Mujahadeen being funded to thwart the Russian invasion of Afghanistan. This is a pretty standard trick of the CIA: arm the underdogs and send them on a suicide mission. Whether you want to call it a "kamikaze," a "blitzkrieg," a "jihad" or "Operation CHAOS," the "intelligence community" of the western world has accumulated enough money to arm both sides in any conflict and then control the flow of arms so tightly that it completely determines who will win, or rather, who will survive. If you want to understand Hegelian dialectics in action, just look at the CIA: thesis: the CIA creates a conflict between two or within one foreign nation(s). antithesis: the CIA arms both sides. synthesis: the CIA determines who the winner is and what that their policy will favour the CIA's "business" interests.

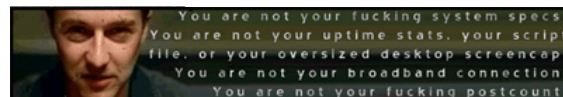

One of the longest-term projects of the CIA is running America like a corporation, and this idea dates back to pre-Keyensian, Henry Ford -style industrialism. Consolidation of wealth was begun with the ghettoes of Germany and Poland, but included also the consolidation of population not only in concentration camps across Europe, but simultaneously prison-interment camps for Japanese American immigrants and the reservations of Native Americans. The NAZI eugenicists and the fascist bankers worked tirelessly to drain the finances from one group and to transfer those liquid assets into the hands of another group. This involved the taking of 6 million lives in the European death camps alone.

The CIA is in control of pretty much ALL the world's wealth by now, because, if it is not being transacted directly in the economic credit-system, where the NSA can track it, it is being covertly spent on the "black" market and "laundered" through "front" companies. There probably isn't an Aborigine in Australia who buys a coke bottle out of a coke machine that doesn't show up on the "grid." You might think this is funny, too ridiculous to be comprehensible. Sadly, it is true.

As a side note, the whole Cold War could be thought of as a family feud between the Rothschild European banking family and the Rockefeller "new" money from the American Federal Reserve bank. The same technique was used by both to fund, on the one hand, the Soviets, and on the other hand, the US "military / industrial" complex. First they extrapolated wealth through interest-bearing loans (the most evil idea of all) to states who had previously leeched their own wealth off the people via taxes (the second most evil idea of all, paying to be a slave).

Any time a group grows to a "critical mass" of power and financial centrality the "bubble bursts" and the "vacuum" is filled by the next "runner-up" who catches all the wealth trickling down from the implosion of the prior ruling class above. Thus, when the kingdoms had consolidated all the wealth of the serfs and there was no more wealth left for them to suck off the bones of our individual liberty, the international bankers arose to totally disempower the royals. The international banks' strategies are preserved in the CIA today by playing one side against another, cleaning out the "dead wood" and rebuilding over the ruins. The international bankers predicted their own fall to ultra-nationalised labour unionism (ie. revolutionary "communism"), so they financially supported their own worst enemies and so they bought out Lenin.

G) The banking families, in turn, were only employing the methods of private-interest consolidation of public wealth via sales (as opposed to taxes) that was employed via the Knights Templar (actually funded via the national rulers by the Vatican) during the Crusades, which in turn was then used to justify the Inquisition. This method of "killing the messenger" was employed to discredit the non-Zionist Diaspora (by the Holocaust), Nationalised Socialism (ie. Leninism), "fascism" (ie. gov't supply-side spending, later used by Reagan to bankrupt Russia by glutting the defense industry) as well as far-east "Imperialism" (ie. non-economic dictatorships) all in one fell swoop during WWII. In the Cold War they managed to discredit "Sovietism" as "collectivism" while making "Americanism" out to be "individualism" when in truth the opposite was true. The same effect has been used "covertly" (going un-covered by the US media) since then by the CIA to overthrow democratic politicians and install loyal political supporters of US business interests. I "believe" the same group has been behind all of these atrocities between the Crusades then and the current "war" in Iraq now. Moreover, this is only an active wing of a group whose passive wing was simply more dominant 2000 years ago than it is now. The group that the "active" (sun-crazed destroyers) wing and the "passive" (dark-ages, Maudner-minimum) wing belong to is a group of scientists that, and again this is only my "belief" or "theory," pre-existed the world-flood(s) at the end of the last ice-age (ie. originally the first homo-sapien chieftens, later called "Atlanteans," who we considered "primitive" and yet who erected the massive megaliths of that era no less than the highly civilised empire of Old Kingdom Egypt their own.)

So, let's start with the Priory of Zion, an extremist radical group of Catholic bishops and cardinals and monks. They were a clandestine group who gained favour with the false, puppet Popes by advocating repatriation of European Jews and their trade-guild unionism to "Israel," ie. Palestine. They gained so much financial favour among the elite pushing this method of population control and thus consolidation of wealth among the elite that they eventually garnered support for the Crusades.

For the purpose of population redistribution and economic control factors the Crusades were an enormous success, however this was only the icing on the cake, the "cherry on top" to kick up the pseudo-authorities in the Papal court and the royal courts of the European nations. The Crusades were also, and far more importantly, a success in their real goal, which was to get the necessary archaeological artefacts smuggled out of Jerusalem and back to Europe. This is the exact same procedure as "Project Paperclip" bringing the Nazis and Fascist troops over to the US, only in the case of the Crusades, the resources being exploited were not the knowledge held by individual people but the knowledge that could be gained from certain artefacts of ancient knowledge.

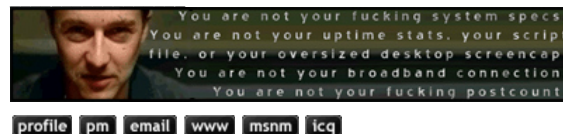

Of course, there is alot of ex post facto conspiracy theorising about how the Pope betrayed the Templars. This is simply not true. The Pope was soured to the Templars by his advisors, as Pepin was sugared up by the Pope's promises of gaining the wealth of the Sorbonne of Merovius. These advisors were the ones responsible for the Fri. the 13th purgation of the Templars, and who do you think these advisors were? They were "occultists" such as practise still today just as they did then Astrology (calendrical astronomy), Tarot (cartomancy similar to Chinese I Ching), skrying (crystal vision-induced trance channeling), etc.

Was Jacqueus DeMolay a witch? Probably not. The Cathars may have, indeed, actually adopted ancient rituals for meditative enlightenment, but the likelihood of these being even as sinister as later actual witch-cults, provoked into covert Satanism by the Inquisition, is extremely low. The Inquisition created Satanism in the same way the invasion of Iraq is creating terrorists (guerilla warfare vigilantes).

However, behind all these there is the sinister, inner-occult order with no name. Nobody could tell you the exact names of its members, their role in history, their dates of birth and death, etc. Yet they have been the ones whispering into the ears of popes and kings and international bankers and now the CIA. These people are magicians.

Now there is nothing overtly evil about "magick," as it is spelt by its practitioners. Magick can be good if it is used only as little as cannot be avoided, but magick is bad if one is tempted to use it all the time. Magick, in this sense, is the same as inter-personal subliminal hypnotism, direct inter-personal mind-control, personal "mezmerism," charisma, etc. This can lead to shared growth, or to enslavement of one by another. It simply depends on who is doing what when, and what is necessary at that time for the artefacts to survive.

H) these ancient conspirators discovered the existence of a global energy grid that has allowed them to mind-control the masses and to time-travel themselves. I call this elsewhere the "Enochian Communications System" because it was first understood by homo-sapiens at the time of this biblical patriarch (ie. before the world-flood) and because it is based on John Dee's "Enochian" system as a framework for combining all the existing world religious "systems" into one, based not on myth and faith but on an extremely long calendar and a very high form of science (essentially, the study of esoteric systems for its own sake).

I'm not even going to go into the concept, I won't even dignify it by the pseudo-scientific rank of a "theory," of alien insemination at our evolutionary origin as a species. In my opinion anyone who believes in alien inception of and alteration of our natural genetics, particularly by the Zeta Reticuli grey aliens, in our early recorded human history and called by the Sumerians the "Anunaki" and worshipped by them as Gods - anyone who follows this line of "logic," this line of "reasoning" - is wasting their precious time being inspired by false fire and merely misunderstanding the factual combination of an off-world virus with the earth-born bacteria at the time of spiral trilobites grew to inhabit the world-ocean not long after the earth itself had formed and begun cooling.

I've done alot of research on the Enuma Elish, the old testament apocrypha and pseudepigrapha, the 19th century collection of superfluous legends relative to the old testament, and QBLHistic cosmological source-texts such as the Zohar and the Book of Raziel. I've never found one goddamn shred of convincing, satisfactorally conclusive evidence that proves the "pantheons" of the ancients are actually a group of phased-energy beings, capable of mental navigation of inter-stellar travel. The only source to cite such a theory, even, since it is so patently absurd, is the "Lost Book of Enki" translated by Zecharia Sitchin, renowned alien-embryo conspiracy theoreist and self-proclaimed "Orientalist," supposedly from various fragmentary Sumerian source texts (transcribed from cuneiform engraved on clay pot sherds preserved beneath the silt layer of the middle-eastern event of the world-flood), however Sitchin does not provide his trademark xerox copy reproductions of these original source-texts. The sections that he has added in all cases bridge large gaps in narrative chronology between myths previously thought to be entirely separate traditions from one another.

And of course, our leaders, wooed by Icke, all dance now to the tune called by Zecharia Sitchin. The "Babylonian Brotherhood" are just people spreading the memetics of the "Annunaki" Aliens (ie. the "greys" as the "watchers," an idea first introduced by Raymond Fowler in 1984). This group is actually very small, but it is spread out in the distance and whispers its suggestions like the sound of the wind. Because they cannot be seen, but they cannot not be heard, this group of psychic conspirators is considered a much greater imposition on our individual minds, and a much greater threat (in the form of Zeta Reticuli greys) therefore, than it actually is in reality.

Now, on the other hand, I'm not going to say that "aliens" have never "visited" or "contacted" humans from earth. This is obviously true too, and easy to explain why it is not a much wider recognised phenomenon, most of the abductees are never returned. I simply reject the idea that they tampered with our genes to create a dominant trait branch in our species and a submissive branch in our species. My main reason for doubting this premise is because it is a human idea. It is not alien enough for me to believe that would actually be the motive of a real extra-terrestrial species. Aside from the idea of them being a "care-taker" type species attached to our own, ie. like the "Holy Guardian Angel" of Abramelin and later of Crowley's Enochian Sex Magick, there seems to be no motive for a random alien species to have "visited" us 6000+ years ago, tampered with our evolution, and then left promising to return again someday. This is the type of nightmare experienced by an ugly child abandoned in a strip-mall parking-lot; it is a loser "script" not a "winner" script. If you want to believe it, you are free to do so, just as I am free to disagree.

Now, does anyone have any further questions on my theories on 9-11, the CIA, dark-age "magicians," and ancient aliens? I'll attempt to get back to the questions I'd passed over too, now that I'm done making my last point in regards to what I was saying.

I don't think Israel has anything to do with any of this. All it is is a strategic location for the western military industrial complex. If it were important because it was their "Holy Land" then Egypt would be equally important. If it was anything more than simply another terrorist-friendly nation, identical, IMO, to Ireland (or, for that matter, depending on who you ask, Chechnya), then I would definately have mentioned it as such.

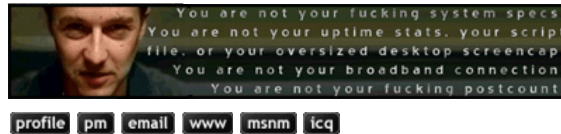

See, there doesn't NEED to be a "third world war" (ala Pike's letter, as you mention), because (ala Wells, as I've mentioned), the "third world war" is one of "low-intensity conflict" with the US acting as police force. Read up on the "Liquid Conspiracy" and try some LSD sometime, kid. You'll get it eventually.

And because I'm not interested in you turning this thread into an anti-Semitic (self-acknowledged or not) rant by "George" the "Aquarian" I'm going to point out that he's shifting attention AWAY from some very valid points I'd addressed specifically TO HIM...

meaning, if you have read the earlier evidence I presented, and understood the implications of it (involving NAZI Vril Vimanas and subsequent AREA 51 "black-budget" military aircraft and "stealth" technology), you would know that, IMO, there are no "aliens," only inter-dimensional "shadow-stepping" agents of the CIA (cult of the all-seeing eye).

The point being, given that they control what concerns the average person every day most (ie. who is in office, how high gas prices are, etc.), and given that they are liars by nature, do you really believe these people are even capable of thinking below this kind of "mental accumen" (as you put it) that seems "alien" and "other worldly" to someone such as yourself? It's like asking an only child what it's like for them to have a siamese-twin. ie. it's "double-think."

I wrote:

THE AQUARIAN 1 wrote:

ie. if there was no one in the planes nor the buildings, where's the "crime"? "No harm, no foul," right, "coach"?

I wrote:

THE AQUARIAN 1 wrote:

"seems more likely" coming from you is no different from my point of view than my name's input to the "Penis Name Generator" terminology randomiser online popping out "Captain Kirk."

ie. look, if you believe there ever were passengers on hijacked airplanes in the first place, as opposed to ONLY drone-planes PAINTED to LOOK like 747's, then yes, you would be obligated to dispose of them somehow.

However, if you read my writing above, you will understand that I do not believe drone-planes PAINTED to LOOK like 747's were used. I believe the actual 747's were used, but were remote-controlled by drone "guide" planes.

Now, you are thinking, the question remains... if there were airliners used, where were the passengers?

As I had said earlier, I believe that, by the time the planes hit, they had all "transcended to a higher plane of reality."

Let's look at this word by word.

To "Transcend" is to be "translated" like Enoch, or to "transubstantiate" like Christ, that is, in neo-Sethian terminology, to be able to "shadow-step" between this dimension and another that is invisible to most people's naked eye (which, if you think about it, is all "stealth" tech is).

Here, "higher" refers to the invisible, heavenly (as opposed to invisible but hell-like) dimension "behind the clouds."

Here, "plane" does not mean a 747, but it's interesting that you notice that, since, in effect, it is the same as if the passengers' consciousnesses had been "beamed" into the "invisible" drone "plane" and "Saved" in the "high-spin" RAM of a "virtual" parallel "reality" dimension.

and lastly, "Reality" is what you make of it. Your whole universe, that is, each tunnel-reality you can reach out through to penetrate, however deeply, the otherwise invisible or "unknown" reality that we all "share" and yet which is a "mystery," is only a refrigerator-light coming on in my universe whenever I "open the door" between my "parallel" reality, my universe, and yours. It's like, each of us is the "Beyond." Ever read the Marvel comics "Secret Wars" series? It's like that.

Now, not to get too off topic, and to restate my prior assertion: "the passengers are still alive, they simply are alive in a reality that is invisible to us now. In their time-line, there was no hijacking, and no 9-11, and in their world, we still exist (partially), but 9-11 never happened. Now, in our own reality, 9-11 did happen, and we are led around by the nose thinking we have to find something to do about it. The only reason we even think 9-11 was even eye-catching, let alone inspirational of "terror" is because we recognise, however deep down, it "shouldn't" have happened only because we are capable of being aware that in some "other" world it actually never even did happen. We can call this world an "ideal" world or "heaven" but really it is only a "baby universe" born from our own perception, a "tangent" tunnel-reality.

I wrote:THE AQUARIAN 1 wrote:

It's pretty clear, no matter what the exact details are, that the September 11th attacks are the beginning of an attempt to implement world government. This has been a plan for a very long time.

The "NWO" has been in place for the last 100 years. World Government has never been absent even for a moment since the end of the last ice age. It simply isn't taught to you in educational institutions. You are taught Columbus discovered America, even though people were already living there. You need to OPEN YOUR EYES.

Again, just to point out the difference in our perspective world-views here, you're saying the NWO is just about to start, and I'm saying the NWO started at least 100 years ago. Now, just to clear things up, substitute "the Apocalypse" for the term "NWO" and you have the point of disagreement where my "tunnel-reality" diverges from yours.

You think, because you exist (I do not think I exist, btw), therefore Armageddon can't have happened yet. As an eschatological Christian yourself, what I call a "neo-Sethian" (in the same sense as, from your point of view, I am an "Illuminati" or someone is pro-Conspiracy and pro-NWO agenda), you BELIEVE you are living in the End of Days, and that in your lifetime you will witness the resurrection of Jesus Christ (whom you might know by the name YAHASUACH HA MASHIACH).

I simply disagree. I think each of us has the potential Christ-consciousness within us that will ultimately allow us to disappear and reappear at will, even if we disappear 2000 years ago and reappear now. It's called the "magick memory" and "reincarnation," the "transubstantiation of the soul." You'd do well to look at why the "reincarnation of the soul" is denied by your Catholic doctrine. By dictating what your soul is not allowed to do, they acquire control over your soul. They say this is a "good" thing, and call you "saved." But they accuse Satan of wanting to control your soul, and they call that "evil." In truth, Lucifer wants to "free your spirit." He doesn't give a shit about your "soul" either way. Your soul is just an EM field bound to this local-universe. It's your spirit that transubstantiates upward, to a "higher" dimensional "plane," or to the "ideal" of "heaven."

In truth, neither is wrong. It's not requisite to serve the "good" (ie. the conspiracy's dominant paradigm) to survive in life, and thus being "Christian" isn't the only way to get into "heaven." If you "believe" it is, you are making the mistake of selling yourself into spiritual slavery. But ultimately, what is "good" for you is not necessarily the same as what is "good" for me, or anyone, let alone everyone, else. It might be in your "best interest" to reincarnate in this physical quagmire, this hell beside the astral ether, because of your need to cling to the slavish work-ethic. It's really not my place to say what is "true" for you one way of the other.

I wrote:THE AQUARIAN 1 wrote:

They need another terrorist attack to truly take over.

who says? Why would you beleive such folly?

ie. look. 9-11 was the "other" terrorist attack you mean. They HAVE "truly" taken over. The US military already controlled the rest of the third-world. Our only competitor was Russia, now their interests align with "ours" and so "we" basically can nuke anyone anywhere at any time. After 9-11 this ability was simply removed from the hands of the citizens of the most powerful country in the "free world," and consolidated into the hands of the wealthy elite, the so-called "conspiracy" of "bankers."

You need to stop thinking this is still the twentieth century, or waiting for the events that have already occurred to rewind and have not occurred. You're stuck here, whether you hold your "optimistic" (blind) belief that the world (as you know it) hasn't already ended. You ARE already DEAD. You're a brain on a shelf man, just like the rest of us. The only difference between me and you is that I know that, and accept what I know, and you choose to ignore that reality, and "believe" you are still "free" from it. This "belief" is what enslaves you, and your so-called "freedom" what makes you such an obvious SLAVE.

I wrote:THE AQUARIAN 1 wrote:

A battle is occurring right now, between the warriors of light and the minions of darkness.

Idiotic superstitious mumbo-jumbo, hocus-pocus, hoodoo nonsense. Pay attention to reality, get your damn head out of your impractical, dreamy-eyed ass hole and WAKE UP.

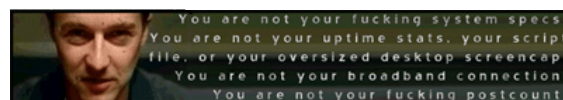

That's your own personal superstition. You worship Ahurah-Mazda, and you deny Ahriman. That's your religion: it's a solar cult, and you think it started with Jewish mono-theism, but it is much older than that in truth, since Jews were not "officially" monotheist until Moses. The Egyptians were even "official" monotheists, under Akhenaten, earlier than the Jews, supposedly the "first" monotheism, and thus the "chosen people" of the "one true" monotheist, universal God.

What you believe in the "second coming" and the name for those who held that belief 2000 years ago was "Sethites." That's why I call you a "neo-Sethian." Your OWN associations with the name "Seth" are coloured by the Egyptian myth where "Set" is "Satan," the tempter snake of Eden. But if you were a real "Judeo-Christian" (as you think you MUST be since you cannot deny you accept the knowledge of the myths and "believe" in their validity), then you would know that, in your own BIBLE, the character of "Seth" is the mortal son of Adam and Eve who ALL of us (the Noahites who survived the flood, the Gentiles, sons of Ham, son of Noah, AS WELL AS the Jews, sons of Abraham) are descended from.

2000 years ago, the "Sethites" believed in the second-coming of the "Messiah" whom they associated with "Seth." Now, you believe in the "second-coming" of the "Messiah" who you call "Jesus." But it's the same belief. You just don't know about the Sethites, and so you believe your own belief is somehow unique and original, and that holding onto it in spite of obvious facts to the contrary, makes you also in some way special or unique.

Idiots, however, are a dime a dozen and suckers, as they say, are born every minute.

Shooter is about an ex sniper being framed for trying to kill the president, but the corruption goes pretty deep, since the cia itself framed him to cover themselves.

Now, remember Ben, you told me about the method of remembering things? Well I've tried that, but haven't got too far with that, since I have memory problems, but what is interesting, is that this made my flashbacks come back, I used to get these weird flashbacks, it wasn't anything special, but I still wonder where and when could have I visited or seen that place. What I see exactly, is, a room, probably public washroom, or a school washroom, with classic 70's/80's tile style, you know, these blue little tiles everywhere, well, the room itself looks pretty abandoned, like, holes everywhere, missing tiles, no light, and I can even hear the smell of humidity.

Fuck and I just found out that a girl was murdered by some fucking gangster at the park I stop at everyday while my bike run. In the same little cabin where we stop to drink...

anyways. im so fucking tired, ill come back later this week.

Im out

Whatzits

I've given the name Whatzit to any sort of Black Ops technology that could be used to simulate an "alien invasion" or the arrival of "friendly aliens", as soon as they decide to step up to the Utiimate Boogieman. This secret technology was used on 911, not passenger planes or swapped planes, but technology based on math kept secret. The strange movement here is certainly neither bird or helicopter. Since it was caught in four videos from three cameras, it can't be an artifact. There is also a set of stills that caught this object, including one frame with a helicopter close by <http://thewebfairy.com.911/newwhatzits/merkeba>
